Two Defense Lawyers Jailed, Chicago Riot Trial Continues

CHICAGO (AP) — Two defense lawyers were jailed for contempt Friday in the U. S. District Court trial of eight men charged with conspiring to riot during the 1968 Democratic National Convention, but both attorneys were released a few hours later.

Judge Julius J. Hoffman ordered the arrest of Gerald B. Lefcourt of New York and Michael E. Tigar of Los Angeles for failure to appear at the opening of the trial Wednesday.

Attorneys representing the two filed a motion with the 7th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. U. S. Marshall John C. Meisner said both were released Friday night on their own recognizance pending further appeal.

Judge Hoffman indicated in ordering the arrests that he would sentence Lefcourt and Tigar when the trial resumes Monday.

William M. Kunstler of New York, head of the defense team, insisted, however, that although the two were listed as defense lawyers it was understood they would be used in pretrial proceedings only.

Two California lawyers, Dennis J. Roberts and Michael A. Kennedy, also were cited for contempt for failing to appear, but warrants for their arrest were quashed by Judge Albert C. Wollenberg of U. S. District Court in San Francisco.

He said the two San Francisco attorneys would not be arrested because warrants and a telephone order for contempt did not comply with law and did not list any offense beyond failure to appear.

The contempt citation delayed opening statements in the trial and prevented the cross-examination of Raymond Simon, a city attorney who was the government's first witness.

Simon testified that he and other officials had met with Rennard C. "Rennie" Davis, 29, one of the defendants, a week before the convention. He said Davis had discussed anti-war organization plans to march in Chicago and sleep in Lincoln Park.

Earlier, Richard G. Schultz, an assistant U. S. attorney, delivered the government's opening statement and called defendant David T. Dellinger of New York "the principal architect of the riots."

Dellinger, 53, was the head of the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, a leading protest group in Chicago during the August convention.

Schultz said Dellinger and his seven co-defendants used the unpopular Vietnam war to urge people to come to Chicago.

He said the government would prove that Jerry Rubin, another defendant, told a city official, "We came to fight in this city," Schultz said Abbie Hoffman, also on trial, told the same official, "Give us $100,000 and we will not protest."

In his opening defense statement, Kunstler said: "The evidence in this case will show that police embarked on a conspiracy of beserk, brutal action . . . that the real conspiracy in this case was a conspiracy to curtail and prevent the protest against the war in Vietnam."

Bernardine Dohrn, an SDS national field secretary, was arrested and charged with battery and mob action in connection with clash between demonstrators and police on Wednesday when the trial began.

Larry Weiss, 21, and Leonard Handelman, 23, both Chicago members of the SDS National Action Committee planning anti-war demonstrations next month, also were arrested. They were charged with aggravated battery and mob action.

Defendants in addition to Dellinger: Davis, an anti-war organizer; Rubin, 31, a Youth International party—Yippie—leader and Hoffman, 31, also a Yippie leader from New York, are Bobby G. Seale, 32, chairman of the Black Panther party from Oakland, Calif.; John R. Froines, 30, University of Oregon chemistry professor, Eugene, Ore.; Thomas E. Hayden, 30, an SDS founder, and Lee Weiner, 29, a Northwestern University sociology assistant from Chicago.

5 Fire Units, 9 Trucks Respond

$100,000 Blaze Hits Johnson Ford

By BRUCE KAUFMAN

KINGSTON — An intense and damaging fire raged out of control for two hours at Johnson Ford Friday night, gutting a sector of the automobile dealership's main building and causing property damage of at least $100,000.

The fire discovered by employees at 9 p.m. was finally brought under control by about 11 p.m. by volunteers from the West Hurley Fire Department, with assistance from fire fighting units from neighboring districts.

Five firefighting units from the West Hurley Fire Department were the first to arrive at the scene. Subsequently a complement of tank trucks manned by volunteers from Woodstock, Hurley and the Town of Ulster and a pump truck from the Town of Olive were called in to assist the fire fighting effort.

According to Allen Rowe, chief of the West Hurley volunteers, who directed the fire fighting effort, the damage was limited to the parts department of the Ford complex, located off Route 28, just west of the traffic circle.

Although, the extent of the damage has not been determined, the management of Johnson Ford has nevertheless opened the dealership for "business as usual" today.

The exact cause of the fire has yet to be determined and is currently being investigated by the Kingston BCI and the dealership's insurance representatives.

However, Paul H. Johnson, vice president and treasurer of Johnson Ford, has speculated that a mechanical failure may have sparked the destructive blaze.

Johnson said that it will take several days to clean up the place and determine the extent of damage. He added it will take up to a month to replace some of the destroyed parts.

"We can't really determine the actual extent of the damage until we get inside, clear the aisles and sort things out," he said. Johnson also stressed that the fire did not damage any of the new Ford automobiles and that service appointments for Monday will be carried out as scheduled.

More than 50 firefighters and nine trucks responded to the blaze. Chief Rowe said that the major difficulty encountered was gaining entry to the steel-and-concrete structure, which was tightly sealed.

Rowe said that while the blaze was of major magnitude, there was no danger of the fire tumbling rescue squads. The ambulance spreading because there are no lances remained on the scene until after midnight and some of the Hurley firefighters, including Rowe, remained until after 1 a.m.

Johnson, who arrived at the scene shortly after being notified about the blaze, praised the fire-fighting effort as "a job well done."

Against Beret Officers

Army Describes the Charges

SAIGON (AP) — The Army disclosed more details of its murder and conspiracy case against six Green Beret officers today, naming a 27-year-old intelligence specialist as the trigger man in the execution of a reported Vietnamese spy.

Against strong objections from defense attorneys that it would prejudice the case, military officials made public the charges in which all six men are accused of plotting and carrying out the slaying last June 20.

The documents named Capt. Thomas Francis Marasco, 27, of Bloomfield, N.J., as the man who fired the pistol shot that killed Thai Khac Chuyen after it was discovered that he was a double agent working for the North Vietnamese as well as for the Americans.

The three top-ranking officers in the case—Col. Robert B. Rheault, 43, of Vineyard Haven, Mass., former commander of the 3,000 Special Forces troops in Vietnam, and Majors Thomas C. Middleton Jr., 29, of Jefferson, S.C. and David E. Crew, 33, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa—were accused of the murder even though the charges said they did not have a part in the actual killing.

Their trial awaits the outcome of the general court-martial, now scheduled for Oct. 20, in which Marasco and Capt. Leland J. Brumley, 27, of Duncan, Okla., and Budge E. Williams, 27, of Athens, Ga., face similar charges.

No charge sheets were issued for CW2 Edward M. Boyle of New York City, or Sgt. IC Alvin L. Smith Jr. of Naples, Fla.

According to military sources, the two have been declared immune from the original charges so that they may testify against the six officers. If they don't they face possible five-year jail terms.

Boyle, however, was named in the accusations against the others—his part in the incident being that "in order to effect the object of the conspiracy."

He allegedly helped Brumley carry the victim to a boat at Nha Trang, the Special Forces' coastal headquarters 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

Brumley is alleged to have given the doomed man a shot of morphine, after which Marasco, the charges said, "did shoot Thai Khac Chuyen with a pistol."

Chuyen's body then allegedly was weighted with chains in a sack and dumped in the South China Sea. A search was conducted in July and August but no body was recovered.

Hours after the charges were set forth, South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu made his first public comment on the case—denying reports that the victim actually was a "triple agent" working for him as well as for the Americans and the North Vietnamese.

Viet Cong Score Nixon Plan; Vow Fight to 'Total Victory'

PARIS (UPI)—The Viet Cong statement saying that Nixon's reiterated support for the Saigon regime was "bellicose and rotten."

The Viet Cong's latest statement was a new confirmation, the second in 24 hours, that they plan no diplomatic concessions at the Paris peace talks.

The conference has been deadlocked since it opened Jan. 19.

Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong chief negotiator, put forward by Mr. Nixon to oppose the total withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam without posing any condition to prolong the American military occupation of South Vietnam," the Viet Cong statement said.

at the talks, attacked Nixon's policies and demanded immediate negotiations on the basis of the Hanoi-backed Viet Cong 10-point peace program. She returned Friday from several weeks in Hanoi.

"The fallacious arguments put forward by Mr. Nixon to oppose the total withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam without posing any condition to prolong the American military occupation of South Vietnam," the Viet Cong statement said.

Congressional criticism of the Vietnam war and another withdrawal of U.S. troops from the battlefield. Stories on page 14.

"When Mr. Nixon affirms that he will keep in power Mr. Nguyen Van Thieu, he admits the obstinacy of the White House to keep supporting a bellicose and rotten administration in its pay."

French officials said Vietnam will be one of the main talking points when President Georges Pompidou visits Washington in February.

Pompidou, official host of the Paris peace talks, and his foreign minister, Maurice Schumann, had said earlier they were ready to do what they could to speed up the search for a settlement to the conflict.

An official communique in Paris said Pompidou would pay an official visit to the United States for a week late in February. The French officials said Pompidou was closely following progress—or lack of it—at the talks.

France is in a strategically important position because it maintains diplomatic relations with Washington, Moscow, Hanoi and Peking. It was that position that helped bring the

Parable Film Sunday Night At Fair Street

KINGSTON The New York World's Fair premier film, Parable will be shown Sunday 7:30 p.m. at the Fair Street Reformed Church in the Church Parish Room.

A film which received much publicity because of the employment of a clown as the "Christ figure", its theme is basically that of a man who dared to be different. Seven main characters will play the virtue-vice personalities of modern day man. Since no verbal dialogue occurs, the film viewer must interpret each character from his actions or reactions of others. The entire film is a Parable, as is each sequence.

The film will be a part of a special parent night at the Junior High Youth Fellowship, beginning at 6:45 the group will sing hymns at the Hutton Nursery Home on Pearl Street, which will be followed by a refreshment service installing of the program.

Fish Urges Participation In Israel Bond Drive

KINGSTON

Praising the State of Israel Bond Program, Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., today urged Kingston and surrounding communities to participate fully in the current drive.

Fish said that "Israel during the 21 years of its modern existence as a nation has been a haven for the oppressed coming from many lands. The modern, democratic land of Israel has been immeasurably strengthened through Israel bond investments. Israel bond funds have provided the basic seed money for building a strong industrial base, for providing housing for newcomers, places of employment, schools, roadways, machinery and equipment. This has enabled Israel to go forward," the congressman said.

Speaking of Israel being threatened by hostile forces and the consequent $2,800,000 needed each day for her defense, Fish explained that the National Israel Bond Drive for $200,000 this year is necessary to prevent her economy from being adversely affected by this defense spending.

He urged members of all groups in the area to buy bonds to "demonstrate our solidarity with the people of Israel while they struggle for a just and lasting peace."

Fish also announced this week that a team of experts from the National Park Service will be in Kinderhook, Oct. 6 through 10, to conduct a field study for the creation of a master plan and legislative support data on the divisions of housing, education, employment, community relations and laws interpretation.

The Rev. John H. Gilmore, administrator, this week announced that letters had been sent to all city organizations and interested persons asking for representative to serve in the divisions of housing, education, employment, community relations and laws interpretation.

Chairmen named are Herbert Shultz and Howard Fox housing; Rabbi Harry Z. Schechtman and Mrs. Emma Medley, education; Raymond Caddy, employment and the Rev. Edwin C. Coon, community relations. A chairman will be named to head the laws interpretation division.

Shultz and Fox are new members of the commission. New secretary of the organization is Mrs. Sharon Kennedy.

Bolivia's New Head Annuls the Oil Code

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — In its first official act, Bolivia's new military junta canceled a law under which a U.S.-owned oil company has been operating.

Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia, who seized power Friday from President Adolfo Siles Salinas, met with his new cabinet for three hours and then announced the annulment of the nation's petroleum code. The code granted Bolivian Gulf Oil Co. ownership of oil resources and set up a plan of profit-sharing with the state.

Ovando said the legislation was drafted by a New York law firm and was prejudicial to Bolivian interests and a restriction on the income the state should receive from profits and royalties.

He said the future of the company, a subsidiary of Gulf Oil Corp., had not been decided. He did not rule out the possibility of nationalizing the firm's properties, but said "those are details that will be studied later on."

Under the petroleum code, 33.5 per cent of Bolivian Gulf's profits and 11 per cent of its wellhead production went to the government. Company spokesmen said Gulf Oil invested about $140 million in Bolivian oil production from 1957 to 1968.

Ovando said in a message to the peasants that his government would "make more profound the Bolivian land reform" of 1953. And he issued a statement pledging to secure national sovereignty over the sources of production, improve the already nationalized mining industry, promote heavy industry, establish a nationalistic economic policy, and protect workers' rights.

Ovando, 52, commander in chief of Bolivia's armed forces and the front-runner in a presidential campaign that was just getting under way, seized power from Siles while the president was in Santa Cruz for a celebration.

Siles later took off from Santa Cruz in a small plane, presumably to go into exile in Chile.

Siles, 44, was elevated from the vice presidency five months ago when Rene Barrientos was killed in a helicopter crash. Ovando had helped put Barrientos in power and said in May that he would personally lead the overthrow of Siles if the president abandoned the Bolivian revolution.

After the coup, Ovando quickly installed a cabinet dominated by young military men, dissident young leftists from the Christian Democrat and National Revolutionary parties, and independents.

The new cabinet appointed Gen. David La Fuente as acting foreign minister pending the return of Foreign Minister Gustavo Medeiros from the U.N. session in New York.

Judge Grants Stay In Blue Cross Case

NEW YORK (UPI) — The

chief judge of the State Court of Appeals granted a stay Friday in the 43.3 per cent Blue Cross rate increases scheduled to go into effect Oct. 1.

Chief Judge Stanley H. Fuld granted the stay and set a hearing on the increase for Tuesday afternoon before the full Court of Appeals in Albany.

The stay will remain in effect pending a final determination by the full seven-judge court, the state's highest tribunal. Fuld issued his decision after a hearing that lasted a little over an hour in his office. He had come to the city from Albany to hold the hearing.

Lawyers for the city and Controller Mario A. Proaccino, who filed separate suits opposing the increase, as well as counsel for Blue Cross expressing satisfaction with Fuld's ruling.

They said the judge had indicated there would be a quick decision by the Court of Appeals on the increase. Both sides said they had sought a final decision as soon as possible a hearing that lasted a little

AFL-CIO Wants 32-Hour Work Week

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — A resolution calling for a 32-hour work week, higher minimum wage and double time for overtime was passed Friday by delegates to the AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Department convention here.

The IUD also agreed to increase its per capita monthly tax on its 5.5 million members from two to four cents. The hike will add an extra $220,000 to the IUD treasury.

The actions came after delegation heard Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., urge revisions in the country's social security system.

Javits told the delegates there is no reason a retired person should not be able to earn as much as he wanted without sacrificing some of his social security benefits.

This is one of the system's "glaring defects" that should be changed, the lawmaker said.

On another matter, Javits urged organized labor to invest its pension trust funds in projects that would help eradicate slums.

Javits said the funds also can play an equally valuable role in furnishing capital for plant construction or expansion in sum areas, thereby creating new jobs.

Ellenville state troopers issued a summons to Barry Gray, 20, of Kerhonkson, Friday afternoon after his car was pushed into the path of an oncoming vehicle.

Gray was ticketed for being an "unsupervised learner." Police said he was having the car pushed onto Samsonville Road, preparatory to taking it to a garage, when Mrs. Wanda Curtis, 23, of Shokan, struck the vehicle.

The summons is returnable before Judge Abraham Smith, Town of Rochester. Neither party was injured.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 27, 1969

Voters' Literacy Tests

Many young men and women in Ulster County have attained the right to vote for the first time this year. There is vital necessity that these new voters exercise that right for our form of government depends on the participation by citizens in the selection of government officials from the local to the national level.

In an endeavor to see that decisions on Election Day are made intelligently, citizens must pass literacy tests before they are qualified to vote. The tests must be taken by all citizens wishing to vote for the first time in the state. The Ulster County Board of Elections will supply information as to dates and the hours tests will be held in schools throughout the county. New voters may show educational qualifications making it unnecessary to take the test.

The tests are simple and are designed to ascertain whether the new voter has sufficient education to evaluate candidates and issues.

We remind new voters that it is an outstanding civic duty to register and vote. A person is not a good citizen who fails to express his opinion at the polls.

Direct Election Trend

Sentiment for the direct election of the President is catching fire. That the lopsided vote of 339 to 70 on the amendment in the House of Representatives was a reflection of the view of the people at large is unmistakable. A poll of state legislators expected to be hostile show most of those replying to be favorable.

The next hurdle is the U.S. Senate. The principal Senate sponsor of the change, Senator Burch Bayh, Indiana Democrat, has appealed to President Nixon for his active support in the Senate, in the belief that it would be enough to produce the two-thirds majority needed there to complete congressional approval.

The President personally favors direct elections. He has stayed out of the congressional debate, however, because he fears it could not win ratification by three-fourths of the states. The five to one vote in the House should change his mind. He should now lend the weight of his office to win Senate passage of the measure so that state legislatures may act on it.

Polls of state legislators showed that nine states are opposed—Alaska, Nevada and South Dakota; plus six Southern states—Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee. Thirty-seven could defeat an amendment. Six were evenly divided—Idaho, Montana, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Dakota and Utah. Bayh feels once the amendment is past the Senate, the chances of ratification are even.

Opponents will decry the possibility of splinter parties, but this has been anticipated by requiring any president to win 40% of the popular vote or face a runoff with the runnerup. Another objection has been that the smaller states will not surrender the current setup that gives them disproportionate influence in electoral votes, but several recent polls have indicated contrary attitudes.

The Electoral College should be made a "drop-out" from the American political scene, and President Nixon should do everything he can to bring this happy state about.

New Rural Housing Target

The 1949 Housing Act set as a federal goal the construction of 135,000 units of low-cost housing a year for the poor, with a fair share for the rural poor. Then the 1968 housing act confirmed this goal, which had not been achieved 19 years earlier.

The first National Rural Housing Conference has just made a sadly enlightening report. It recommends a national housing goal of at least 27 million units for the 1970s—270,000 a year—with half for rural areas. And it makes the pertinent point that private enterprise cannot provide decent housing for the poor without public subsidies.

The conference also urged the establishment of a rural development bank to finance rural housing, a non-profit housing development corporation, more research and technology into low-income housing, and adequate funding of existing rural housing programs.

Substandard housing for the poor is put at 4.8 million, more than half the 8.2 million shortage in the nation as a whole. Fulfilling this need is a top domestic priority, not as a gift, but financed by federal guarantees payable over a long period of time, with perhaps the interest partly subsidized. People will pay for adequate homes if they are given a chance.

San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto's defense of his $6 million fortune is that he earned it all in his law practice. He has sued Look magazine for $12.5 million libel for its article saying he is "enmeshed in a web of alliances with at least six leaders of La Cosa Nostra." The magazine claims the article was documented. Alioto is a probable Democratic candidate for Governor of California next year.

"You Sure Have a Green Thumb!"

David Lawrence Says Divided Government Seen As Irresponsible System

WASHINGTON—With all the talk and emphasis in the last couple of weeks on the selection of a leader for the minority party in the United States Senate, one might mistakenly assume that there is such a thing as party responsibility. But the fact is that only rarely does either party function as a unit. The excuse usually offered is that every member has the right to differ with his party and vote his own convictions. A few decades ago, the opposite was true. The members of each party met in a caucus to discuss proposed legislation, at which the dissenters expressed themselves. But they abided by the majority vote in the caucus. To abdicate one's party was considered a form of political disloyalty.

Through all the years since the caucus ceased to function, presidents have rarely been able to get the benefits of party responsibility in Congress. Likewise, Congressional elections held in midterm have not always supported the president in power.

During the Eisenhower administration, the Republicans had control of both Houses of Congress only two years out of the eight. President Kennedy had the support of a Democratic majority, and so did President Johnson. When President Nixon was elected last year, the margin narrowed somewhat but the Democrats retained control of both Houses.

This is an irresponsible system. In Great Britain, Canada, and other countries with a parliamentary set-up, the majority party in parliament rules the government. It designates the prime minister from one of its own members, and also selects cabinet officers for the executive branch. If the people show discontent and want a change, a general election can be held at almost any time. If a new majority is then elected, another prime minister is chosen. The parliament remains the supreme governing body.

The big question is whether the founding fathers, who were attempting to improve on the parliamentary method, really accomplished their objective. For today, as domestic and international problems have grown more and more complex, there is a noticeable slowness in the operations of the legislative branch of our government. The majority party in Congress feels no obligation to offer a program of its own, and usually waits for the president of an opposite party to submit legislative proposals.

Meanwhile, criticism is constantly expressed by members of Congress on a variety of subjects. The chairmen of all the committees are Democrats, and a significant example of the breakdown of the present system can be noted almost every week as the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee seeks to make foreign policy. The Constitution, of course, does not delegate any such power to Congress but authorizes the president to conduct international relations. Mr. Nixon has sent to Congress a number of major measures. Some of them will win Democratic support, but others will be modified to suit the political whims of the opposite political party. As population grows and the national government is burdened with more and more problems, it is surprising that there has been no sign that the public as yet understands the retardation of progress inherent in our current system of divided government.

In the 1970 Congressional elections, President Nixon will doubtless appeal for support of the candidates of his own party. But he probably would prefer the election in some cases of Democrats who are more in accord with his views than those Republicans who favor a different ideology from that of the head of their party.

Sooner or later, the voters throughout the country will begin to insist that a senator or representative support his own party and pledge himself to accept the majority decisions of the party caucus. For if a candidate uses the Republican or Democratic party label to win election, he should recognize majority rule inside the party. Only if party responsibility is so fixed can the voter determine where the blame lies—or to whom credit should be given—for important legislation adopted or rejected by Congress.

The Democrats' Old Guard Riled by New Left's Scorn

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) Major elements of the fractured Democratic party are headed toward what could be the most destructive collision in its 20th-century history.

The New Democratic Coalition and allied partisans of the New Left are adopting an increasingly rigid doctrinaire posture as they press for a leadership role in the party.

Not only conservative Democrats but a whole host of the more practical liberals are explosively angry at the New Left and seldom miss a chance to attack. Labor leaders who have most to do with Hubert Humphrey's late-campaign comeback in 1968 are refusing now to cooperate with party reform efforts.

In the newest blast from the doctrinaire side, a group including John Kenneth Galbraith, Richard Goodwin, Arthur Schlesinger Jr. and Adam Walinsky asserted that a newly formed Democratic Policy Council "does not represent the practitioners and advocates of the new politics nor is there a significant voice for youth."

A proclamation, circulated at a recent liberal-sponsored rally at the Libertyville, Ill., farm of State Treasurer Adlai Stevenson III, petitioned "against a politics which produces an order in which Americans fear one another, in which those who seek change and those who hold power regard one another without understanding, without compassion and without trust."

In view of the party's practical centrists, the burden of these dangerous divisions lies heaviest on the New Left.

Says one leftist spokesman in a burst of sarcasm: "According to the leftist, we seem to be the lunatic middle."

The party centrists are convinced that the New Democratic Coalition and others of similar bent are moving on a suicidal course for the party.

"Somehow, winning is impure," is one comment. Another more detached political appraiser adds:

"If you want to have purity and stay out of office, you can do it. These New Left people are suffering from a kind of antipower syndrome."

What infuriates the middle-range types most is the NDC's consistent put-down of certain labor leaders the coalition views as hopelessly hidebound. A seasoned Democratic professional says:

"In the 1968 campaign for the presidency, labor was all we had. For all practical purposes, we were a labor party."

Labor's experienced political field forces are widely credited with pulling back into the party fold countless union workers who had drifted toward third party candidate George Wallace. The return flow brought Humphrey surprisingly close at the finish.

The New Left's scorn for these leaders is being repaid in kind as AFL-CIO officials currently spurn co-operation with the two special party committees studying national convention and delegate selection reforms.

NDC sources insist that most of labor nevertheless can be held within a "purified" liberal Democratic party which would put emphasis upon the young, the black and other minorities, and the intellectuals. These New Left sources say they would be happy to see conservative southern Democrats depart for other political pastures.

To the centrists, this is "Goldwaterism in reverse," a deliberate move toward minority party status which one observer says would assure that the Democrats hereafter would "march successfully to defeat after defeat."

These same politicians in the middle contend that the New Left notion that labor's huge rank and file can be kept within a party focused strongly on the young and the black is a piece of massive self-deception.

Practiced professionals recall that sizable elements of labor stayed with Wallace or President Nixon in 1968 despite all the pressures applied by labor's battle-wise field troops. They fear labor's exodus from the Democratic party in 1970 and 1972 would be far greater is the New Left prescriptions for purity were to prevail.

Jack Anderson Says Contributors to Nixon Campaign Apoplectic Over His Policies

WASHINGTON The financial tycoons who put up the big money for Richard Nixon's presidential campaign are absolutely apoplectic over his antitrust and tax policies.

Not since the trust-busting days of Franklin D. Roosevelt have the fat cats howled so loudly. They have raised such shrill protests at the White House that President Nixon has been stirred out of his Vietnam meditations to listen to them.

To one group of monied and manicured protesters, he acknowledged that some of his underlings may have been too zealous.

"The trouble with some of these people," he said, "is they've got good ideas but they don't know anything about politics." The disgruntled financiers went away feeling that maybe the President had gotten the message.

The loudest squawks have come from the oil millionaires who opened their pocketbooks to Nixon after his campaign pledge not to tamper with the oil depletion allowance. White House advisers had persuaded him, however, that tax reforms would be a mockery if the biggest tax loophole of all were left intact. Reluctantly, the President agreed not to oppose oil depletion cuts. However, the oil boys have put on the pressure to persuade the President to change his mind back again to their side.

As if this weren't enough to make Democrats out of the oilmen, the President's anti-trust chief, Richard McLaren, has also urged elimination of the oil import quota system which permits big oil companies to charge high prices for their cheap foreign fuel. The oil boys, furious, are almost ready to pull the state of Texas out of the Union.

McLaren's speeches, attacking bigness, have made many a corporate executive also sputter. But they could hardly believe their ears when Attorney General John Mitchell, a former corporation lawyer in Nixon's Wall Street firm, announced that the Justice Department would seek to block the nation's 200 largest corporations from any more expansion.

The directors of these 200 corporations can be found on the most gilded contributors' lists of the Republican party. And most horse breeders, whose favorite hobby is now threatened by the Nixon administration's farm tax reforms, also belong in Who's Who Among Republican Contributors.

The big publishers, who gave editorial support to Richard Nixon's presidential ambitions, have also been rewarded with a crackdown. McLaren has opposed a bill exempting rival newspapers which form joint printing operations from the antitrust laws. Without this exemption, many newspapers face triple-damage antitrust suits.

In many a paneled executive suite, Republican fat cats are yearning for the good old days of Lyndon B. Johnson and John F. Kennedy.

News Nuggets

HIGHER BENEFITS — House Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills, who surprised everyone by pushing tax reform through the House, is now quietly preparing to increase Social Security benefits. Scoring President Nixon's call for a 10 per cent boost, Mills has consulted the actuarial tables and convinced himself that a 15 per cent raise would be fiscally sound. He also intends to boost the minimum $35 payment to $75 or $80. If all this seems like heresy in Mills's conservative circles, it is good politics for a man with his eye on the House Speakership.

MAFIA DIVIDEND — The FBI landed a big fish when its agents cracked down the other day upon an interstate jewelry ring in upper New York. Among those caught in the net was Salvatore Pieri, otherwise known as Samuel Johns in underworld circles, who is the heir apparent to Stefano Magaddino as the Mafia chief for western New York and western Canada.

In fact, the FBI has been watching for a meeting where Pieri would be formally installed to succeed the bedridden Magaddino. Now Pieri faces a federal rap for alleged conspiracy to transport jewels stolen from societies.

TROOP WITHDRAWALS — President Nixon has taken pains, even in private briefings, not to mention any plans for pulling additional troops out of Vietnam after December. This column can report, however, that the plans are being drafted. When they will be implemented will depend upon the scale of the fighting. Eventually the President would like to pull all combat troops out of Vietnam except for volunteers. His hopes is to turn the fighting over to the South Vietnamese as rapidly as possible.

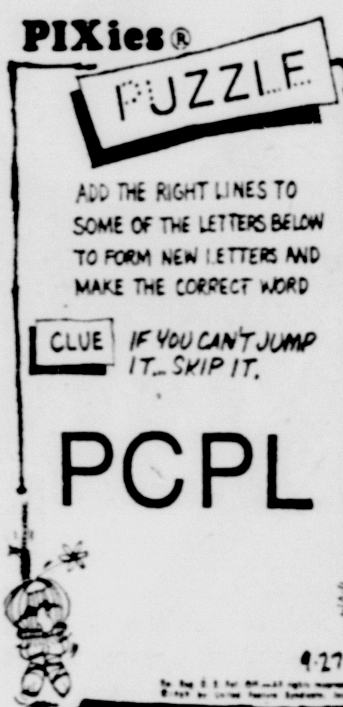

The U.S. will continue to provide them, however, with air cover, airlift and logistical support.

NUCLEAR AGREEMENT — Soviet diplomacy has become more defensive since the U.S. moon landing and President Nixon's tumultuous welcome in Romania. Chinese-Russian tensions have also caused a hardening inside the Kremlin. Soviet leaders understandably are wary about accepting any nuclear ban that doesn't include Red China. At the same time, the Russians have shown a strong concern about world opinion ever since the bad reactions to their invasion of Czechoslovakia.

While they aren't likely to agree to any limit on their nuclear weapons as long as the Red army feels menaced by China, they have agreed privately to accept U.S. conditions for banning nuclear weapons from the ocean floor.

The U.S. in turn has accepted a Soviet demand for a 12-mile offshore limit and has also agreed to allow anti-submarine detection devices to be planted on the seabed. A formal announcement should be forthcoming.

SOVIET MISSILES — The North Vietnamese have been begging Russia to supply them with anti-ship missiles, which could be used against the U.S. Seventh Fleet. The Russians, however, have flatly refused to furnish weapons that could expand the war and lead to a military confrontation at sea.

ROTC Must Change or Lose Out

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) Paradoxically, although Reserve Officer's Training Corps will end at Harvard University and Dartmouth College in 1970, and although its continuation is being debated at a number of other prominent universities, other colleges are today in line for military training detachments.

Some 90 colleges with no ROTC at present have applied for Army units, 129 for Navy and 116 for Air Force.

An increasing number of schools, however, is expected to make ROTC voluntary, continuing a recent trend. Excluding nine military junior colleges, there are 356 colleges and universities with ROTC as of now. Eighteen schools are in the process of establishing units.

In the past nine years, Army ROTC enrollment on campus has declined 7 per cent to 151,000. Navy by 13 per cent to slightly over 10,000, while Air Force enrollment has plummeted to over 51,000, half of what it was in 1960.

The Pentagon says the decline in enrollees has occurred in the shift from compulsory to voluntary programs.

Though enrollment has declined, of late there has been an increase in the number of students continuing their courses to graduation—and accepting commissions, possibly as a result of the Vietnam war.

But it is becoming clear in the Pentagon as well as on campus that ROTC will have to change in order to survive. The problem is not the anti-war, anti-defense protesters, but the serious student who refuses to waste four years on drills and courses which do not challenge him.

While there are noted exceptions, many ROTC courses on college campuses are better fitted to a trade school, high school or intermediate school level of study. This thinking comes from thoughtful students who favor training on campus as well as from opponents. Often the problem is not the subject itself, but the "ABC" fashion in which military subjects are taught and the low degree of thought and background required to master the subject matter.

For the past several years there have been ambitious studies in the Pentagon aimed at reform. Innovations have indeed been made at some schools. But on the whole the ROTC courses, in intellectual content, are still far below the courses offered in the non-military curriculum.

Half of each year's new crop of Army second lieutenants comes from ROTC. Although numbers of these men drop out after a few years in service, still a third of all Army and Air Force officers currently on active duty has ROTC backgrounds and 12 per cent in the Navy.

These figures explain why the Pentagon is so concerned over anything which threatens the campus programs. The service academies could not possibly provide the numbers of officers needed now or after Vietnam. They certainly could not provide the variety of backgrounds which Pentagon officials believe necessary to meet the unexpected problems of defense in the 1970s and 1980s.

Most of the revolt against ROTC occurs among the faculty and students of the liberal arts departments. Opposition is reported generally lower in the engineering, business administration, premedical and the other more precise disciplines.

Opposition seems heaviest at the Eastern prestige schools, especially in the Ivy League, and at Stanford University in California.

The history of the Stanford anti-ROTC movement has been interesting. Early last February, faculty representatives voted 25 to eight to end academic credit, starting in 1970. But later that same month, by a margin of three to two, Stanford students voted for a referendum proposition which read: "We believe ROTC has a legitimate place on campus and deserves support and credit from the University for all those parts of the program that are of genuine academic interest." More than 3,500 of the university's 11,400 students participated in the referendum.

In the professional military there is a minority which believes that it would be better for all the services to get their new officers from the military academies and from Officer Candidate Schools. They would just as soon see ROTC off the campuses. A larger group would be quite willing to take close order drill and other similar exercises out of the universities and concentrate more on the academic aspects of military study. Summer camp programs would be expanded to give those phases of military training not considered suitable for the campus.

The final decision has not been made.

Tomorrow's Styles Today in Breath-Taking Luxury Furs

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

COPENHAGEN — (NEA)

The name of the most important furrier in Europe, Birger Christensen, is internationally known. The firm has existed for 100 years and to celebrate this unprecedented centennial in the fur world, its dynamic owner-designer-manager, 45-year-old Finn Birger Christensen produced an eye-stopping, breath-taking collection of 145 models.

Throughout the showing Birger Christensen demonstrated and proved that the modern furrier treats fur as just another wool or silk fabric. Saddle stitching, pleats, leather trims and inserts all come into play in flared coats, simple coats, slim coats with the modern body-hugging silhouette.

Most of the 145 models were teamed with trousers and ranged from mini to maxi.

"My coats top pants or trousers because I think this is a trend which is good for some time yet. But they also look chic with skirts and boots," he said.

The redingote, fitted through the body and flaring at the hem is the leitmotif, worked with horizontal skins mainly. The waistline is often cinched with either a string or deep leather belt.

Leather plays a stellar role on both the sports and dressy models in the form of storm collars, facings, yokes and pockets in matching or contrasting tones. Buttons are highlighted, too.

The Birger Christensen Jubilee collection stars every type of pelt, starting with the entire color range of the famous Saga mink, all 14 of them (Denmark is the world's largest mink-producing country) followed by Icelandic, Norwegian and Pacific seal (either natural, dyed black, brown blue and red).

In the Safari group are Leopard, Cheetah, Jaguar, Ocelot, Lion, Zebra, Antelope, the S.W. Africa broadtails, the long-haired furs — foxes, opossum, lynx and badger.

The majority of models were shown in three on a bewildering galaxy of beautiful Nordic mannequins. The show-stopping number featured a rare and fantastic fur — the dark forest leopard, in a maxi coat. Price? $20,000.

The Birger Christensen salons are situated in the Ostergade, a city block of streets in Copenhagen housing luxury boutiques which is closed to automobile traffic. Here the queens of Denmark, Norway and Greece come on foot as the house holds the royal warrant to all three courts.

Two years ago Christensen realized that his workrooms were too small to cope with his ever-increasing export orders, so a modern workroom was built at Herlev, a few miles outside the capital.

"I made it a point to offer office conditions for factory workers, so I have no labor problems," stressed this descendant of the Vikings.

"Here they have modern lighting and sanitation, a rest room, an attractive cafeteria, a colorful garden, a clean white overall for every worker — it's all theirs."

Working conditions are also very up-to-date. There is no supervision. Each worker is on his own, can take a few minutes off to smoke a cigarette or get a cup of coffee when he or she feels tired. Men and women are paid according to what they produce. Apprentices get the official minimum wage and after three years are given the opportunity to show what they can do.

"The result," said Christensen, "is that the rate of production is far higher than in the old days. For example, today we reckon on 60 hours to make a mink coat whereas not so long ago it took all of 150 hours." The house makes over 22,000 mink coats a year. On hurry orders it is possible to produce a mink coat in one week where previously it would have meant three to four weeks.

Few women realize the minute work and stitching that goes into a mink coat. First of all, it takes, for an average size, 30 male and 15 female skins. Each of these is cut into 40 narrow strips which have to be pieced together again like an intricate jigsaw puzzle or mosaic.

Capes Are Making the Knitters' Scene

By JUDY LOVE

Recently I attended a learn-in for young knitters — and came away with a lesson learned.

Most of the young adults taking knitting lessons not only had mastered the basic stitches, but also had completed at least one garment — a sweater in every case. They were really eager to find young, kicky styles as a next project.

The answer for them — and for any of us who knit for the teen and young 20s set — could be the cape. I'm featuring today. Certainly they're easy enough to knit, even for the novice, and each cape is with it in its own fashion right.

One size in each fits 10-16, and both have a comfortable, easy-action fit knitted in a choice of Bear Brand or Botany yarns.

Pick your favorite — a fringed cape with a super-cowl collar or a neatly tailored topper with color contrasting borders.

For your copy of knitting instructions for both capes, send 50 cents to Stitchin' Time care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Ask for leaflet S175, and include your name, address and zip code.

Knit Knacks

Dear Judy: I have a set of knitting instructions which call for either bias binding or crocheted edge as finishing. I would prefer bias binding, but the instructions do not explain it. Can you help? — M.T.

Dear M.T.: To start your bias binding, first cast on two stitches. Work in stockinette stitch, increasing one stitch at the beginning of every knit row until the number of stitches measures 1½ inches. This is an example; you may knit a wider or slightly narrower binding.

Next, increase one stitch at the beginning and decrease on stitch at the end of every knit row. On the return row, purl all stitches. Repeat for the desired length. (Remember, however, that bias binding will stretch a good deal more than a straight edge.)

Decrease one stitch at the end of every knit row until two stitches remain. Bind off and steam press.

Finally, attach the binding to the edge of your work in the same way bias binding is applied in sewing. — Judy Love (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Capes capture the young knitter's mood. Easy-to-follow instructions for the two toppers are available.

Y-Wives Open Fall Season with Supper

The first fall meeting of the Y-Wives Club of YWCA was held on Thursday evening, Sept. 18, after a covered dish supper. Hostesses for the supper were Mrs. William Devine, Mrs. William Barnes, Mrs. William Jackson and Mrs. Frederick F. Burnett.

President Mrs. Frank DiPietro welcomed members and called for reports from this year's chairmen. Mrs. Thomas Palmer, program chairman, distributed printed programs and gave a brief preview of the year. Publicity chairman, Mrs. Burnett, noted with appreciation that the club's articles and photographs have been printed quickly and thoroughly in the Kingston Daily Freeman. Mrs. William Schreiber, membership chairman, requested members to give her the names and addresses of prospective members so that they may receive invitations to the Membership Tea, Oct. 2, at 8 at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue. The Sweet Adelines, local women's barbershop singing group, will entertain at the tea. Mrs. Herbert Reuner, cheer chairman, gave a report which included those who were hospitalized during the summer. Hospitality chairman, Mrs. Devine, presented a sign-up list for hostesses.

Mrs. DiPietro announced that Mrs. David Van Etten will be in charge of the fall bake sale. Mrs. Carl Nordstrom is chairman of the fall dinner-dance. Plans for these will be announced at the next meeting. Mrs. Fred Schoonmaker, chairman of the initiation program on October 16, announced that everyone is expected to come in costume that evening.

Mrs. DiPietro informed the group that the YWCA is sponsoring "Beauty of Blackness" on Monday Sept. 28. This is a unique presentation by The Voices, a repertory company of 10 singer-actors.

Mrs. Reuner and Mrs. Burnett were appointed to give a presentation on Y-Wives at an all-Y Membership meeting to be held on October 21.

The YWCA is an agency of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Open House Doubles as Engagement Party

Dear Mrs. Post: My parents are planning an Open House for over the holidays. Last year around that time, my fiancé and I became engaged. This will be the only chance that he will have to meet my parents' friends.

My mother would like to know if it would be possible to put on the invitations some reference to our engagement, such as An Open House in honor of the engagement of our daughter and her fiancé. Could you please tell me how it could be worded. — Jane

Dear Jane: An Open House is a fine time to introduce your fiancé to family friends. Your mother could issue invitations or informals or printed invitations, and at the top she should write "In honor of Jane Jones and Bob Brown," or she may include your name with hers on the invitations and write "To meet Bob Brown." You may use the word "engaged" if you wish, but it is not necessary, people will get the picture in any case.

Twin Serves As Matron of Honor

Dear Mrs. Post: I have three daughters — two married, the other to be married soon. She wants a simple dignified church wedding. How can the two matron sisters, one two years older the other a twin, be included in the wedding party? She also has a distant cousin, much older, whom she would like to honor, but not necessarily include her in the wedding party. Have you any suggestions? — Fran Wilson

Dear Mrs. Wilson: Your daughter's twin, to whom she is undoubtedly closest, should be matron of honor. Her other sister should serve as bridesmaid. The cousin may be asked to be in charge of the guest book (if you plan to have one) and should sit as an honored guest at the parents' table.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that I receive each week, I will send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette. The question chosen, and its answer, will be published in this column every Friday. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper, and don't forget to include your name and address.

Patricia Gerbarg Recently Named To Dean's List

Miss Patricia L. Gerbarg, a graduate of Kingston High School, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. David S. Gerbarg of 169 Washington Avenue, Kingston, is among the 301 women named to the dean's list for the fall semester at Pembroke College, the women's coordinate college in Brown University, Providence, R.I. The announcement was made by Miss Rosemary Pierrel, dean of Pembroke College.

Miss Gerbarg is a junior, majoring in Biology.

Accepted at Newton

Frances Helene Casciaro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Casciaro, 50 Derrenbacher Street, Kingston, was among the 200 girls selected from nearly 1,000 applicants for this year's freshman class at Newton (Mass.) College of the Sacred Heart.

Their class — the class of 1973 at the liberal arts college for women — came to Newton from 131 public or independent schools in the United States and six foreign countries.

Also new on the Newton campus this fall is Dr. James J. Whalen, the College's first lay president, who welcomed the freshmen and their parents at a reception opening orientation week activities.

The College began its 24th academic year this week with an enrollment of 800 women working toward baccalaureate degrees in 22 major fields of study.

One of the 200 educational institutions conducted by the Religious of the Sacred Heart around the world, Newton College is located on 50 acres of rolling campus seven miles from downtown Boston.

Tiny Tips

Sandals Are 'In'

"Elevated" sandals are "in," so give yourself a lift and buy some.

Parts of Fashion Scene

Body jewelry is replacing fabric for fall. Metal "breastplates" chain belts, heavy bangle bracelets to be worn on the upper arm, are all part of the new fashion scene.

Shirtdress Is Basic

The shirtdress is a basic for the smartly dressed woman this fall. Whether it's a flared-collared, button-down front style, or the classic, button-down collar shirtdress, be sure to include one in your wardrobe. For easy care, look for synthetic, drip-dry fabrics.

Bell-Bottoms Bow Out

Make use of your bell-bottom pants, ladies — at least the daytime variety. They're bowing out this fall — making way for the skinny-leg pant look for casual wear. Wide pants will hold their own on the evening scene, however.

Fall Workshop

Women's Society of Christian Service, The Hudson North District, will hold its annual fall workshop on Tuesday, Oct. 7 at the United Methodist Church in New Paltz. The topic for the workshop will be, "Behold Now is the Time." The program will be repeated Thursday, Oct. 9 at the United Methodist Church in Walton. The Country Wife

By DOROTHY VAN DOREN

The other night I forgot to wind the clock on the mantel. It ran down about four thirty in the morning so at nine, when I turned the weight all the way to the top, I found myself getting not so much the actual numbers of the hours but pictures.

Five o'clock, early in the morning but it is when we have to get up to catch the early plane for Chicago. Six o'clock; people who work the seven o'clock shift in the needle factory are up and dressed and halfway through breakfast. Seven o'clock, getting up time for school children if the bus ride is not too long, for me because at seven I go down and open the door which keeps the cat in the back of the house. He follows me upstairs, jumps on my bed, and permits his neck to be scratched for a few minutes before we all get up.

Eight o'clock is breakfast time; at noon it is time to think about lunch; we have a sociable hour before dinner, at six if we are alone, later if there is company. So the day goes on. Every position of the clock's hands means a familiar scene.

We live by the clock. I can never understand those folks who boast that they never carry a watch. They are also likely to ignore the newspapers. The world is passing them by and they don't know it.

What happens at a quarter of five? Why countless young clerks and secretaries go to the washroom, do over their hair, fix their faces, and are ready to quit work at five. Eleven P.M. never used to be my bedtime but these days I am beginning to yawn about then unless there is some fascinating conversation going on.

Long ago I remember hearing about poor peasants living on remote Mexican towns. They lay down when they were tired, and went to sleep; when they were hungry they ate, if they were so fortunate as to have any food. It might be day or night, meal time or not. There was no meal time, no bed time. I felt they were very strange. I still do.

Now often do we say to the children: "Come now, put away your toys — or your books or whatever — it's time to..." to what? Time to do something because whatever it is we always do it at that time. Three o'clock: school's out. Seven o'clock: dinner is ready. It's nearly six — or midnight — or three A. M. You're late! Or we can't go in yet; they asked us for six-thirty and it's only twenty five past.

Some people are always late. It is not that they scorn the clock but they can't believe the minutes are going by so fast. A great friend of ours was perpetually tardy. Someone said if she could leap ahead a week in her life, for a few days she would be on time for everything. But pretty soon she would slip back and be behindhand again.

Behindhand is a misnomer. If we are late we are behind the clock. We have been seeing the wrong picture and the inexorable hands, whether the clock is wound or not, will not wait for us.

Hints from Heloise

Dearest Heloise:

Please inform your readers of the hazards attached to washing machine wringers. It is most important to keep the little children away from these finer-crushing machines. Over 100,000 persons are injured because of carelessness.

Accidents are caused, they just don't happen. Dr. Irmagene Holloway, Associate for Consumer Education Office of Product Safety, Food and Drug Administration.

Dear Heloise:

I found a good use for the plastic-coated wires that come in the boxes of sandwich bags. When I press my husband's French cuffs, I put one of these ties in each cuff after folding it up.

It keeps them nice and flat until my husband wears the shirt.

Amy Buona Casa

Dear Heloise:

I hate to waste any bit of milk, so when the baby leaves a little in the bottom of his cup, I add some instant pudding (the amount depending upon how much milk is left) and mix it together.

Within less than a minute — some tasty pudding to "cap off" his meal or to save for the next meal.

Patricia Kaspar

Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

I can't help but smile each day when I hear my neighbor call her four little ones in from the sandpile with...

"Come on troops, time for lunch!"

Even the children seem to join in the spirit of the command and run home without a bit of hesitation.

Mrs. E.

Dear Heloise:

I discovered a new use for old bow ties... hair bows!

First I selected some pretty plaid ties that would look nice as hair bows. Then I bent them back so that there was a space between the clip and the bow.

I slipped the metal clip of the tie under my hair, leaving the hair between the bow and clip.

I then clamped it together on my hair. If it is loose you can tighten it with a bobby pin, or even replace the tie clip with a bobby pin or hair clip if you prefer.

Cepeda and Niekro Disagree But Braves Keep Rolling On

By MIKE QUANE
UPI Sports Writer

Orlando Cepeda may be a big reason why the Braves think they're a good bet to bring Atlanta its first World Series, but Cepeda isn't quite as optimistic.

Cepeda smashed a grand slam home run in the third inning Friday night to pace the Atlanta Braves' 10-4 romp over San Diego. Unlike his teammates, he remained shy of predictions.

Cepeda, who played in the last two World Series in for St. Louis, wasn't bubbling with optimism over the Braves' chances of taking the pennant.

"This game's too tough to say," Cepeda said. "You've got to win one today and win one tomorrow. Win them one at a time."

Teammate Phil Niekro, who won his 22nd game for the National League's Western Division leaders, wasn't so cautious, however.

"The way we're playing now," enthused Niekro, "we can't be beat."

The victory kept the Braves 1½ games in front of second-place San Francisco in the West and reduced the Braves' "magic number" to four for clinching the division title. Any combination of Atlanta victories and San Francisco losses adding up to four will win it for the Braves.

In other National League action, New York shut out Philadelphia 5-0. Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from Houston, 3-0 and 4-3. Pittsburgh blanked Chicago, 2-0. St. Louis romped over Montreal, 12-1 and San Francisco edged Los Angeles, 2-1.

In the American League, New York's Jerry Koosman pitched eight innings and Hoyt Wilhelm came on for the save. The loser was Phil's brother Joe, now 38.

Cepeda's homer gave him 22 for the year, while Aaron's, his 44th of the year and 554th of his career, tied him with Willie McCovey of the Giants for the league lead. Tommy Dean and Al Ferrara homered for two of the eight hits off winner Niekro, on a one-hitter in the Reds' opening triumph.

Lee May also connected for a two-run shot for the Reds in the nightcap before Curt Blefary led a San Diego comeback with a three-run blast. Bench's 25th homer gave Al Jackson his first win for the Reds in relief.

Record for Maloney

Maloney's one-hitter equaled a modern national league mark of five career one-hitters held by Grover Cleveland Alexander and Nardac Brown. Tony Perez hit his 35th homer and the Reds pounded out 12 hits as Maloney posted his 11th victory.

Fred Patek cracked a two-run homer and Dock Ellis hurled a four-hitter to lead the Pirates to a shutout over Chicago. Ellis won his 11th of the year, defeating Ferguson Jenkins, now 21-15.

Rookie Steve Huntz drove in four tallies on a pair of homers and newcomer Tom Coulter knocked in three more with a bases-filled triple to pace St. Louis to its rout of Montreal. Mike Torrez got his 10th victory. The win snapped a four-game losing streak for the Cards.

Gaylord Perry pitched his 18th victory on a four-hitter and Bobby Bonds drove in both San Francisco runs with a bases-filled single to defeat Los Angeles and keep the Giants in second place in the Western Division.

Willie Mays and Ron Hunt walked in the first and came home on Bonds' hit for the Giants' tallies as the Dodgers lost their eighth game in a row and Don Sutton suffered his 17th loss against an equal number of victories.

NEW YORK (UPI)—They have all kinds of "days" in baseball. Bat Day, Helmet Day, Senior Citizens' Day, Fan Appreciation Day.

Friday, they finally got around to giving managers a day. One was given a job, one was given a boost and one was given the gate.

Frank Lucchesi, understandably, was happy about getting the Phillies' job because he spent 18 years managing in the minors. Larry Shepard, understandably, was unhappy about having to leave the Pirates.

Gil Hodges got the boost. The Mets showed how they feel about the job he did by tearing up his old three-year contract, which still had a year to run.

They gave him a new one for three years and upped his pay from $50,000 to the $65,000 area. Understandably, all this didn't make him angry.

But Gil Hodges will never win the Academy Award. He's no actor. As they say around the picture studios, he doesn't emote. He plays everything the same way, like Jack Webb on Dragnet.

The Mets made the announcement about Hodges in his own office at Shea Stadium Friday morning. After he and general manager Johnny Murphy answered questions for the news media, the 45-year-old Mets manager got on the bus with the rest of the team for the trip to Philadelphia.

Hodges took one of the front seats as he usually does and as all managers usually do. The bus ride over the New Jersey Turnpike door-to-door from Shea Stadium to the downtown Philly where the Mets bed down in Philly generally takes about two hours and that's about how long this one took.

Many of the Mets' players on the bus weren't aware of about Hodges' new contract and he saw no particular reason to mention it. He felt that could wait. Maybe until the meeting he would have before Friday night's game with the Phillies.

But a few of the Mets' players had gotten wind of his pay boost before they left Shea Stadium.

"Terrific," said Tom Seaver, the Mets' 24-game winner. "Good for him."

"It's no surprise," outfielder Tommie Agee said. "I think it was to be expected."

The suddenness of the whole thing surprised Hodges, however, and he's a tough cookie to surprise.

Board chairman, and Murphy had occasion to be at City Hall Thursday for a team proclamation by Mayor John V. Lindsay. After the ceremony was over

Board chairman, and Murphy had occasion to be at City Hall Thursday for a team proclamation by Mayor John V. Lindsay. After the ceremony was over they both sat down on a park bench to discuss the club's future.

"How about Gil's contract?" Grant said.

When Murphy finally contacted Hodges at his home in Brooklyn, two problems arose. Hodges, who had been visiting his mother-in-law in the hospital, was asked whether he could come down to meet with Grant and Murphy at Grant's broker, Gil Hodges' office on Wall Street. Gil said he wasn't sure how to get to Wall Street, and besides, he said he got there, where would he park his car?

"No problem," Grant said. "No problem at all. I'll send him my car and my chauffeur."

And Grant did. "Did you learn enough about Wall Street so you know how to get there now?" one of the newsmen asked Hodges at the news conference.

"No," he said. "I didn't know how to get there yesterday and I still don't know any more today. I'd say there's one way to go. If you're going, get Mr. and Mrs. Hodges' chauffeur to pick you up. Nothing like going in style."

Gil Hodges smiled. "Now and then Frank Lucchesi once he got there, where would he park his car?"

"No problem," Grant said. "No problem at all. I'll send him my car and my chauffeur."

"No problem," Grant said. "No problem at all. I'll send him my car and my chauffeur."

And Grant did. "Did you learn enough about Wall Street so you know how to get there now?" one of the newsmen asked Hodges at the news conference.

"No," he said. "I didn't know how to get there yesterday and I still don't know any more today. I'd say there's one way to go. If you're going, get Mr. and Mrs. Hodges' chauffeur to pick you up. Nothing like going in style."

Gil Hodges smiled. "Now and then Frank Lucchesi once he got there, where would he park his car?"

"No problem," Grant said. "No problem at all. I'll send him my car and my chauffeur."

Broncos Shuffle Off To Buffalo and O.J.

(By The Associated Press)

The Denver Broncos, already in high gear, shuffle off to Buffalo, and the New York Jets, trying to get out of reverse, head for the Golden West in two significant American Football League games Sunday.

Denver has won its first two games, including last week's 21-19 stunner over the Super Bowl champion Jets. A victory over Buffalo would keep the dark horse Broncos in such fancy company as Kansas City and Oakland in the Western Division race.

New York, meanwhile, is 1-1 in the East and hopes to get turned around in the right direction with a seemingly easy opponent in the San Diego Chargers.

Also on tap in AFL action Sunday will be Miami at Houston, Oakland at Boston and Kansas City at Cincinnati.

In the National Football

League, Los Angeles hosts Atlanta; Washington visits Cleveland; Dallas is at New Orleans; Baltimore plays at Minnesota.

San Francisco meets Green Bay at Milwaukee; New York plays at Detroit; Philadelphia is home to Pittsburgh and Chicago battles the Cardinals at St. Louis.

Quarterback Pete Liske, architect of Denver's triumph over New York, will start in place of injured Steve Tensi.

Floyd Little, who carved out 104 yards rushing last week before leaving with an injury, is a doubtful starter for the Broncos.

The Bills are banking on O.J. Simpson, their glamorous rookie running back who is yet to reach full professional fruition, and veteran quarterback Jack Kemp.

Simpson, the Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California, got 35 yards in 19 carries in his first regular season pro game. Last week, he toted the ball 19 times for 58.

New York, as usual, looks to Joe Namath for leadership. The smooth quarterback suffered a bruised chest against Denver, but is ready to play.

Class B low net leader was Vytatas Mecionis with 46-13-33. Seldon Fuller had second low net with 45-12-33 and his 45 was low gross in B.

Hank Van Voorhis posted 49-14-35; and Ray Quackenbush 48-13-35. Mecionis' 46 was second low gross and Quackenbush's 48 took third in Class B.

Harvard's long history. He went into the season with 68. Princeton and Rutgers are credited with playing the first intercollegiate game in 1869 but that was a soccer-type game.

Harvard was the first American college to play the running game (1874) and that's actually when American football was born.

The Grand Prix of the United States for Formula 1 road-racing cars, is scheduled at Watkins Glen, N.Y., Oct. 5 carrying a record purse of $206,000. The only richer auto race in the world is the Indy 500.

Dr. Ira J. Winn, a California educator, recently blamed coaches and promoters for making us flabby specimens who prefer spectator sports.

Georgia Tech's footballers found a way to keep this "attack" from spreading.

They presented the winning game ball to Georgia Tech's president after upsetting Southern Methodist last week, 24-21.

Australia says it has the fastest 10-year-old girl swimmer in the world in Virginia Rickard. Virginia has done the 400-meter freestyle in 4:51.2 or 13 seconds faster than the time with which Johnny Weissmuller won the gold medal in the 1924 Olympics.

She learned to swim at two. NBC says 50 million will look in on the telecast of the World Series opener on Saturday, Oct. 11. The Saturday telecast last year drew 40 million viewers but that was for the third game of the series, not an opener.

OCS Tops Marlboro Harriers

MARLBORO

A couple of ninth graders—Craig Shultis and Tim Schussler—grabbed the 10th and 11th spots in a strong finish to enable Onteora Central to edge the homesteading Marlboro, 27-30, in a cross country meet here Friday.

Kickers Face Hungarians Next

MORGAN HILL, N.Y. — The soft-spoken mentor said the final score indicates. "The German-Hungarians are tough," said Graves. "They are reported even stronger than last season when they were runners-up to the famed Greek-Americans."

"Even in defeat we looked better than we did in the opener," Graves noted. "Ventriglia was fabulous and penalties hurt us. The game was a lot closer than we thought."

Game time is 3 p.m.

Strengthened Team

German-Hungarians strengthened their roster with the addition of several players from defunct National American Soccer League teams. "And that's our big problem with most of the teams in the Major League," Graves explained. "They are a mixture of paid pros and amateurs, while we adhere strictly to an amateur lineup."

"We still have to patch up our middle and our overall defense needs strengthening, if we are to survive in this powerhouse of a league," he added. "It is the strongest in the northeastern part of the country, maybe in the whole nation."

With the exception of team captain Reiner Schwebel, who is sidelined with a couple of busted ribs, the Kickers are in good physical condition for the confrontation with the visitors. The big question is: Can they handle the explosive Hungarian offense?

Forward Line Flips

One of the major deficiencies in the Kingston offense is the failure of the forward line to play up to its former standards. In the two games to date it has been attacking with only two wings, a state of affairs that makes high scoring impossible.

The Kickers are contemplating the addition of a couple new players, but financial considerations will influence any such move. The locals figure they can't compete with the New York teams on the open market for soccer talent. Not yet.

In other major games Sunday, Elizabeth plays Hellenic; Inter-Guiliana meets Eintracht; Blue Star takes on Greek-Americans and New York Ukrainians tackle New York Hots.

Greek-Americans, the defending champions, are off to a flying start in quest of their third consecutive title. Many observers rate the New Yorkers one of the best teams ever developed in the United States.

The Sports Club's reserve team plays the Hungarian reserves at 1:30 p.m.

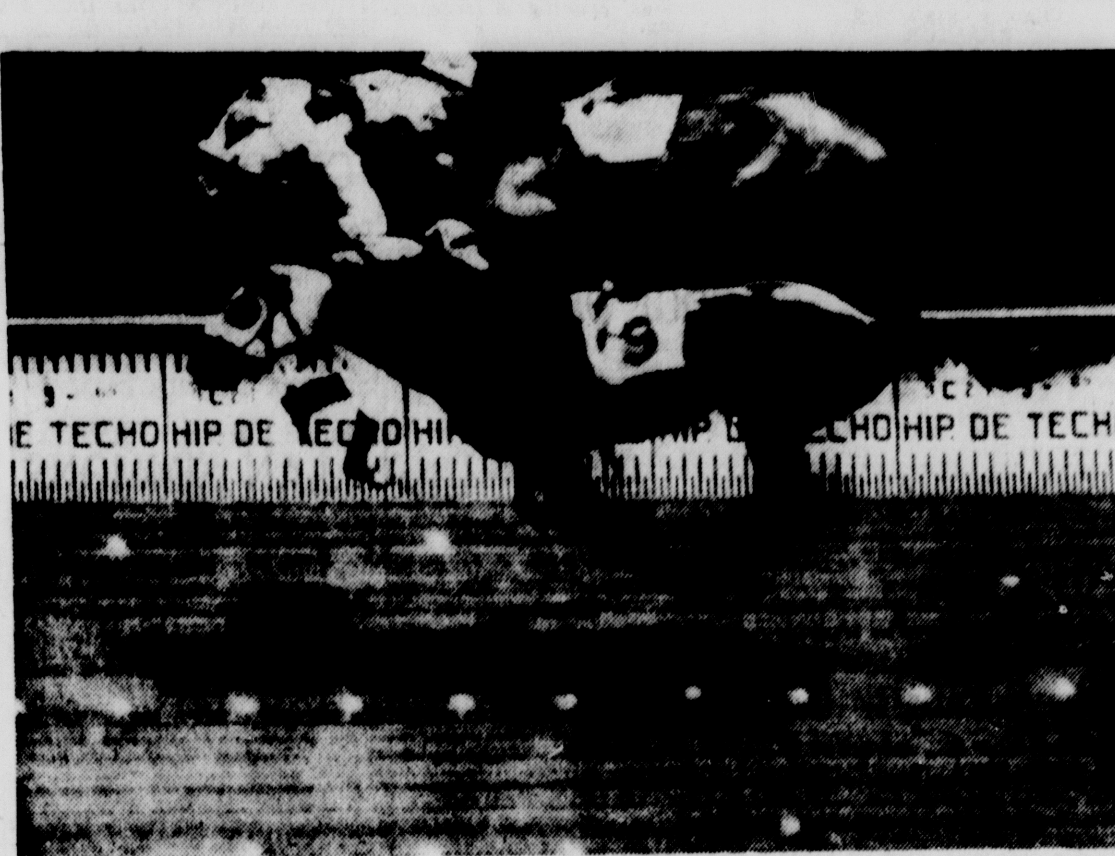

Tie in Kickers At Wiltwyck CC

KINGSTON — Mrs. Seymour Werbalowsky and Mrs. Clifford Spiesman posted net 80's to tie in the Kickers tournament for Wiltwyck Country Club women.

Eleven of the 14 entries picked handicaps to put them into the 74-84 magic circle for the 18-hole tournament.

Mrs. Werbalowsky carded 100-20, winning first place in the draw. Mrs. Spiesman had 92-12. Tied at 83 net were Mrs. Maurice Davenport (115-32) and Mrs. Charles J. Turck (119-36-83).

The Wiltwyck women's division will end its activities with a special 9-hole tournament and luncheon meeting on Oct. 1. Mrs. Howard DeWitt will preside.

TAKING THE BULL BOGOTA — Taking the bull by the horns is something, but this is a horse of a different color. Jockey Juan Aya appears to be dragging "Fastidioso" across the finish line for a dramatic win at the Hipodromo de Techo here. Actually, Aya tumbled from the saddle but managed to grasp his mount's neck before he fell, thereby completing his ride and earning a place in the winners circle. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

The Pride Seeks Another Record

MONTICELLO, N.Y. — "We've got the record of 1:56.4 and I see nothing wrong with Nevele Pride having the second best mark also."

Dancer and Nevele Pride, who is owned by Nevele Acres and Louis Resnick of Ellenville, shattered the former mark held jointly by Speedy Rodney and Matasar earlier this month at upstate Saratoga. That came just eight days after the Pride broke the immortal Greyhound's mile track record with a 1:54.4 at Indianapolis State Fairgrounds.

Nevele Pride will test a field of four trotters in a $15,000 race tonight and will be barred from the betting. There will be a win and place wagering only on the remainder of the field.

Supplying the opposition will be Seymour J., to be ridden by Gerard Mir, driven by another Gilmour, John.

County Preparing For Defense Drill

KINGSTON — The period of Sept. 24 through Oct. 24 and submitted to the Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature for comment.

Phase II in which the pattern of attack on Ulster County will that they are to participate in a three-phase "Exercise Everation Ready" to be conducted by the State Civil Defense Commission.

Phase I, known as "Starlight," a preliminary exercise, is under way now. It consists of a development of simulated actions to increase readiness for attack during successfully acute stages of a hypothetical period of increased tension preceding attack.

Under the guidance of the Ulster County Director of Civil Defense, Charles L. Arnold, written solutions to the problems are to be prepared during Phase II following analysis and study of the attack situation by all emergency services guided by Arnold will consist of an evening command post exercise, Thursday, Dec. 18 in which the heads of emergency services will brief Savago on the hypothetical situation existing following the attack and the emergency operations required to survive and recover. A critique will follow. Representatives from the State Civil Defense Commission will observe.

Savago said the objective is to "further our training to meet actual enemy attack should it occur and to test the appropriateness and the adequacy of the executive order issued under the mandate of the Civil Defense Emergency Act."

Dear Abby

Can He Ever Hustle!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: For 18 years I have been married to a handsome, charming professional man. He is also an incurable philanderer. When we walk into a room filled with strangers, I can pick his victim within 10 minutes.

No one would suspect that he would follow up a cocktail party flirtation, but he does. I have covered up for him many times, and have stayed with him for the sake of the children, hoping each affair would be his last. Everyone thinks we are an ideal couple. They should only know!

Abby, does a leopard ever change his spots? LEOPARD'S WIFE: DEAR WIFE: You have your animals confused. Yours is a wolf. Covering up for a philandering husband is no way to cure him. The wife who raises the roof early in her marriage may not change her leopard's spots, but she can train him before he gets too wild.

DEAR ABBY: My darling wife of over 40 years (I'll call her Bertha) has to have a cigarette in her hand every minute or she's not happy. That's not all, she is too vain to wear glasses all the time, so she is always missing the ash tray, so we have cigarette burns in most of our tables and a couple of her favorite chairs. I have brought home ash trays as big as a fry pan, but she misses those, too.

When we are guests in the homes of friends, the hostess doesn't take her eyes off Bertha for fear she'll burn up something.

Won't you please say something in your column to let my missus know I love her but I wish she'd quit smoking?

LARRY: DEAR LARRY: You've said it all, Larry. Just see that your missus doesn't miss this column.

DEAR ABBY: When someone has lost a member of his family by suicide, what should friends do?

It doesn't seem right to just ignore the situation, yet you can't write and say, "I am sorry to hear that your brother shot himself." (Or should I say, "Shot himself—ACCIDENTALLY?" Would that be better?)

A FRIEND: DEAR FRIEND: Offer your condolences, but do not mention the circumstances.

DEAR ABBY: I have never heard of a big belly getting in the way of true love. In the 15 years Joey and I have been married, Joey gained 55 pounds, and I gained 40. But if he can stand MY big belly, I can stand HIS. We both want to thank you for a wonderful column.

FAT BUT HAPPY: DEAR FAT: And I want to thank you for a wonderful belly laugh.

Everybody has a problem.

What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

(Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat at 10:24 a.m. WKNY-1490)

FORECAST FOR MONDAY SEPTEMBER 29, 1969

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Take time to analyze money proposal. Those who advocate get-rich-quick ideas may not have all facts. Use your own initiative. Be a self-starter. That's road to profit.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Conflict could exist between desire and duty. Do what you have promised. Those who nag for another direction may not be fully informed. Stick to principles; stand tall.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Adjustment in domestic area is necessary. Holding grudge is foolish. Make concession; strive for harmony at home. Surprise gift could be feature of day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You may be handed a hot financial potato. Means be wary of one who seems to be giving you something for nothing. Let common sense rule. Separate fact from fancy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You are in no position to press force issues. Key is to be patient. Permit others to take initiative. Stress on marriage, partnership areas. Don't ask for more than you can handle.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You won't be handed anything on silver platter. But you can move in right direction. Key is to follow intuitive feelings. Check behind the scenes. You can discover valuable secret.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Follow your own convictions in matters of speculation. Experts may not be able to fathom your unique abilities, needs. Throw off old fears, doubts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Be receptive. What you need comes to you. If you force issues, you defeat your own purpose. Accent on basic issues which seem to be elusive.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): some long-range plans are not practical. Do some reviewing. Key is to be versatile. Don't feel there is only one method. There are alternatives—and a relative proves helpful.

Lightning isn't supposed to strike twice in the same place but we do know of a duplicate expert who worked two Vienna Coups against the same victims in two different tournaments.

The perpetrator of these coups did so under two names. The first time she was Ruth Farnham of Stamford, Conn. She married Gordon Gibson of the same town recently and executed the second coup while Gordon was dummy.

Gordon's one-club opening was minimum indeed and Ruth had visions of a grand slam but settled for six no-trump when she found that a king was missing.

Offhand, it appears that seven clubs would be a better contract, since a ruff of a spade would yield a 13th trick but the 5-1 club break would take care of that grand slam.

There are 12 top tricks at no-trump and a simple way to go after the 13th. South can take a diamond finesse.

Ruth decided that the Vienna Coup was better percentage. She started her campaign by running off her five heart tricks and discarding a spade and diamond from dummy. Then she cashed the ace and king of spades to see if the queen would be kind enough to drop.

The lady failed to put in her appearance, so Ruth ran off dummy's clubs. The fourth club lead left Ruth with the ace and queen of diamonds. West had to blank his king in order to retain the queen of spades.

Ruth finally led a diamond from dummy. She studied awhile and then decided to make sure of her small slam by playing the ace. The king appeared and she had an over-trick and a top score.

Mixed Blessing for CBS-TV

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Leslie Uggams arrives in her own series on CBS-TV Sunday as the regular replacement for the Smothers Brothers, who are being canceled after being canceled.

And a preview of the opening hour indicates that while the Uggams show has some contemporary material, it will definitely tread more softly than the brothers' series did. Not that the Smothers were really controversial—at least on their show. By any adult standards, their series was positively innocuous. Woody Allen's recent CBS-TV special, for instance, was far more racy and biting.

Some industryites, in fact, are wondering whether CBS-TV was subtly expressing its personal feelings about the brothers by letting Allen get away with as much as he did. At any rate, Sunday's Uggams variety show is a mixed blessing. The star herself is a fine performer—good singer, dancer and comedienne. And she has a warm and lovely presence.

Impressionist David Frye is a guest, and his impersonations of political figures are by now repetitious to video audiences. A musical group called Sly and the Family Stone is no more distinguished than any number of other pop record stars. And young Marc Copage of the "Julia" series is no particular plus.

Dick Van Dyke is also an Uggams guest. And though an early, allegedly "cute" song he does with her is strictly nowhere, he does contribute the hour's highlight: an impression of how a not-too-brilliant Abe Lincoln might have composed the Gettysburg Address on a train with the accidental aid of passersby.

From Doris Day to Leslie Uggams, CBS-TV seems to run as an American professor in Rome. He is a widower with three daughters. You say that getting cynical.

The Eviction: Let's Get on to the Major Issues

"Cut the baloney and get on with the campaign" is about the most sensible reaction we've heard to the Jim Tyrrell-Garvin Fisher hassle.

Fisher, the landlord and Tyrrell, his tenant, who, quite incidentally, is running for mayor on the GOP ticket, went round and round in public about what was basically a private affair only to wind up in a Mexican standoff.

Tyrrell is still in Fisher's 52 First Avenue apartment and will probably remain there until after the election. A lengthy appeal will assure that.

Meanwhile, people are wondering what really happened and what effect it will have on the mayoral race. It's difficult to say what happened since both sides refute the other's version.

FOR THE RECORD, it appears that things started in the early afternoon of July 8 when Fisher called Tyrrell's wife at the Tyrrell home and told her that he was raising the rent from $80 per month to $85 per month beginning Aug. 1.

Fisher says that Tyrrell's response to the rent increase was "vehement" and that he called Mrs. Fisher and used "insulting tones" to her.

Fisher then says that Tyrrell showed up at his house sometime between 9:30 and 10 o'clock that night to argue the rent increase.

Tyrrell admits, in a letter to Fisher the next day, that he "overreacted" and offered his apologies.

Fisher claims that Tyrrell "overreacted" to the point of threatening Fisher's job as a lieutenant in the city police department. Tyrrell denies ever having made that statement.

We feel it is significant that Fisher has stated for the public record that he gave Tyrrell oral notice of eviction on July 8. Tyrrell, who has refuted most of Fisher's charges, did not refute that one.

In order to have given Tyrrell oral notice of eviction on July 8, Fisher would have had to have done it before midnight of that day. It would follow that the stormy meeting between Fisher and Tyrrell in Fisher's home that began

City Beat

By HUGH REYNOLDS
Freeman City Hall Reporter

around 9:30 p. m. ended with Tyrrell's eviction notice before midnight. In other words, the eviction notice was a direct result of the meeting.

CONVERSATIONS with Fisher's fellow police officers (who obviously prefer to remain anonymous) lend some credence to that theory.

The cops use a Marine Corps term in describing Fisher—"He's a real hardnose." Others include, "He goes by the book. He's tough, but fair. He doesn't take any crap. He doesn't say much but when he thinks he's right, he'll fight like hell. He's one sharp cookie. He figures all the angles."

If Fisher was playing politics, what angles were open to him?

Assume he was helping the Democrats, as Tyrrell has charged. If the Democrat gets elected does he turn around and make Fisher deputy chief? Koenig names Fisher deputy chief?

Assume he was actually working with Tyrrell and evicting him so that Tyrrell could get a sympathy vote. Tyrrell names Fisher deputy chief?

Assume he was helping the Democrats and Tyrrell wins anyway. Tyrrell names Fisher deputy chief?

THE ANGLES are all quite obvious. Politics is a self serving game—a game in which Fisher had nothing to gain by playing.

Oh, yes, Tyrrell's supporters offer proof of Fisher's playing politics by his renting of Tyrrell's quarters to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Keller, both well-known Democrats. Fisher evicts Republican candidate, rents to Democrats. Isn't that a bit obvious?

Mr. Tyrrell says he has many legitimate issues to bring before the public. Let's cut out the baloney and get on with the campaign.

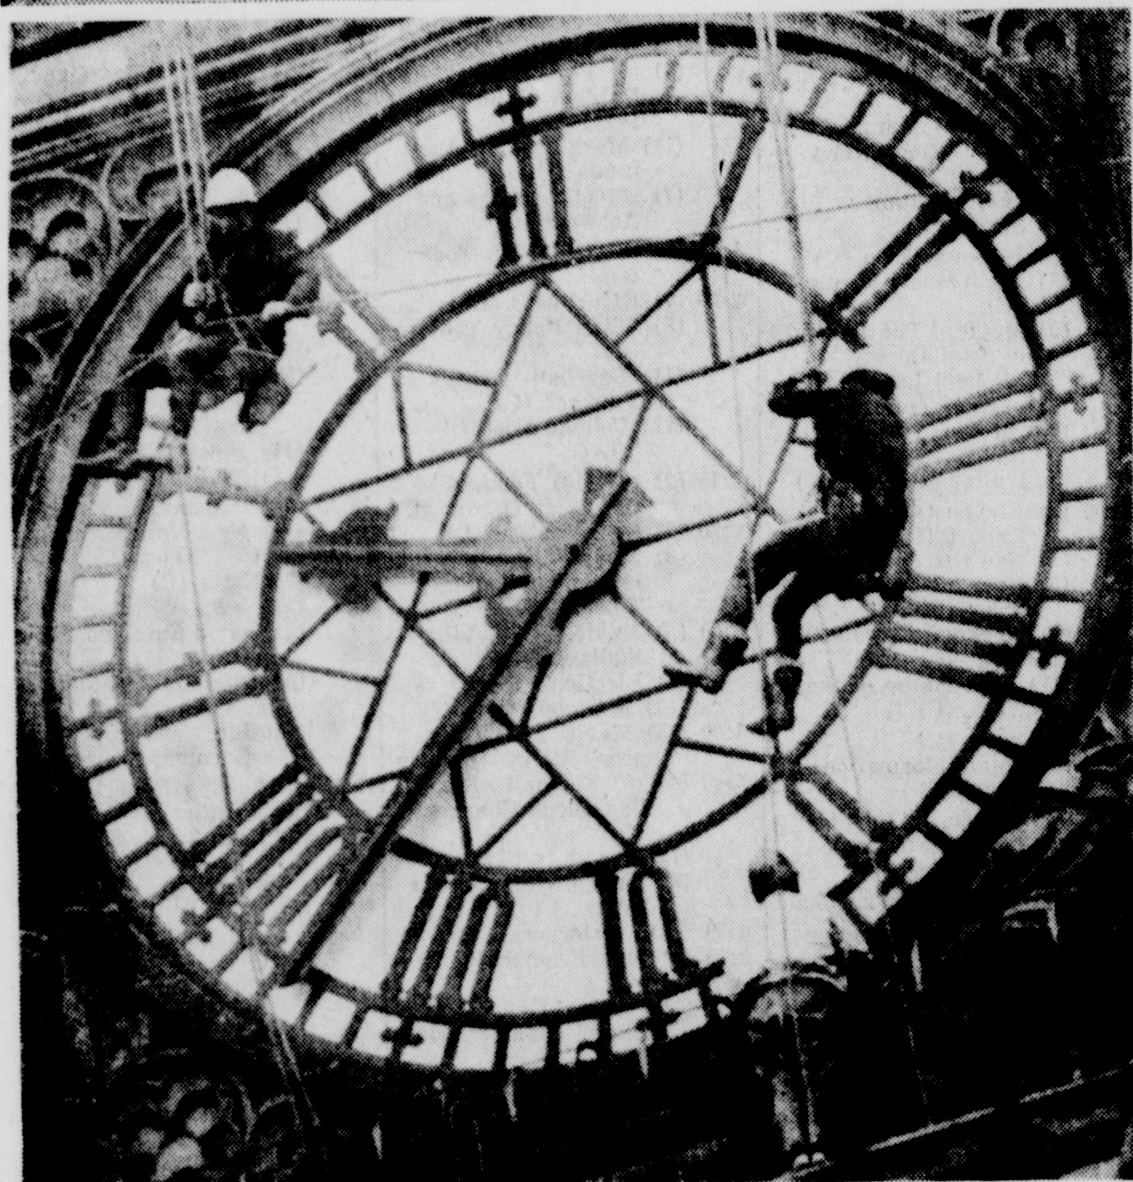

BETTER LATE — In the heat of the campaign we neglected to mention the Republican city dinner at the

Gov. Clinton on Sept. 13 in last week's column. It was a night to remember, as many of the party's "oldtimers" made the scene. The guests included former mayors Connie Heiselman (honorary chairman), Oscar Newkirk and John Schwenk.

Also on hand were former chairman Arthur Wicks (the senator gets around a lot these days, he'll be at the Oct. 2 county dinner at the Granit), Levan Haver, Judge Sterley and John Ray Mayone. Chairman Mel Mones' concoction of young and "old" GOPers proved a heady tonic for party regulars.

SON OF SUPER SLEUTH — Who's that fellow with the fistful of cigars at city hall? Is it an Indian? No, it's Joe Feraca celebrating the birth of his son, Joseph James. Young Feraca was born on the 23rd and tipped the scales at 6 pounds, 13 ounces. Father Feraca is a detective with the Kingston Police Department. Joe's wife, Marianne, who did all the work, is ready to come home with the bundle. Proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Mazuca, he of the North Front Street beauty shop, and Constable and Mrs. Joseph Feraca from Rosendale.

TOP COPS — In other news from the Kingston Police Department, three of the unit's finest gained well-deserved promotions this week. Otto Short moves over from the detective division to join his brother Harry as a uniformed sergeant; Sgt. Bill Slover moves in as a detective sergeant and Patrolman Jimmy Scott moves into the detective division. Good cops getting a good break.

FACELIFT—The Clock on Parliament Hill in Ottawa is getting a facelift. Workmen are busy cleaning and reinforcing the clock in cement. The work involves removing the old caulking that seals the face of the clock, to keep the moisture out. The timepiece is over 16 feet in diameter, the hour hands are 5½ feet long and the minute hands are 7½ feet, the numerals are 2 feet 3 inches. Repairs will take two to three weeks. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Nixon Conferring With Rocky On New Latin-American Plan

CAMP DAVID, Md. (UPI)—Following up his announcement of plans for "a major new pronouncement on Latin American policy" in October, President Nixon was conferring today with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, his personal adviser on Latin America.

Nixon planned to visit at length with Rockefeller, whose report on his recent trip to Latin America has been kept secret, and Charles Meyer, assistant secretary of state for Latin America.

Nixon said at the news conference "a number" of the Rockefeller recommendations would be in the policy pronouncement. But Nixon refused to divulge what was in the report, saying he and Rockefeller had one commitment: "That is to Nixon in June when Chilean foreign minister Gabriel Valdes presented him with the consensus of Vina del Mar, the views of the foreign ministers of Latin America who met in Vina del Mar for the Special Commission of Coordination in Latin America (CECLA)."

One of the basic recommendations of the CECLA meeting was that the United States should deal with Latin America on a multinational basis. According to Latin diplomats, the Rockefeller report also asks for the creation of a new mechanism to help solve the budgetary deficits of a number of Latin American nations. The reconstruction of the war-torn Central American Common Market is said also to be high on the list of recommendations that Rockefeller handed Nixon in San Clemente last month.

The governor is said to have recommended that the United States outline years in advance the funds it will give Latin America in foreign aid—stopping the current practice of having foreign aid considered each and every year—to give the Latin American governments a chance to plan in advance.

Congressional Patience Wearing Thin on Viet War

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Despite two troop reductions and lower battlefield casualties, President Nixon now seems headed for the same intense Congressional criticism of the Vietnam war that played a key factor in hounding Lyndon B. Johnson out of the White House. A nine-month grace period—interrupted only by sporadic sniping—has ended. A growing number of war critics are unwilling to give Nixon more time.

Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., chairman of the Democratic national committee, bluntly said "I think it's time to take the gloves off on the Vietnam issue."

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, noting Nixon has been in office nine months, said: "As far as I know, there has been no movement in all that time."

The criticism has moved from speeches, which dominated the Johnson era, into demands for legislative action to end the war.

Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., introduced a resolution that would bar funds for support of U.S. troops in Vietnam after 1970—in effect, compelling the withdrawal of all American troops there.

And two dozen Senate and House members are launching a demand for the systematic withdrawal of troops and an end to the American involvement in Vietnam.

At a meeting Friday, they agreed to draft a resolution—as tough as possible—and bring it to the floor Oct. 8, one week before the National Moratorium or the War Oct. 15, a planned series of antiwar demonstrations.

At his news conference Friday, Nixon said "under no circumstances" would he be affected by renewed demonstrations or the moratorium.

He also rejected the Goodell bill by warning an arbitrary deadline would perpetuate the war until such a date and destroy any chance of ending it before then. He said it would undercut U.S. efforts in Paris, without losing face," Harris said. "And I'm really alarmed to the moratorium 'incredible' there is no plan."

Fulbright, who promised hearings on the Goodell resolution, said "It seems to me that Sen. Goodell's bill is simply putting into legislative form the President's own proposal. I don't see why he should rapidly losing the advantage he had in saying he did not start the war and could get us out without losing face," Harris said. "And I'm really alarmed to the moratorium 'incredible' there is no plan."

Withdrawals Go On As Fighting Steps Up

SAIGON (UPI)—A U.S. Army reserve unit flew home from Vietnam today under President Nixon's program to withdraw 35,000 more American troops from the war zone by Dec. 15.

The 180 men of the 172nd Transportation Co., a Nebraska Army unit, were the second unit to leave Vietnam since the Nixon Administration's "second phase" withdrawal got underway. A 90-man reserve unit left last Sunday.

The transportation troops flew from Cam Ranh air base to Forbes Army Airfield, Topeka, Kan. The unit will be deactivated at Ft. Riley, Kan., and be reconstituted in the Army Reserve at Omaha, Neb.

The first phase" withdrawal of 25,000 American troops was carried out between July 8 and Aug. 30. It included two brigades of the Army's 9th Infantry Division and the Marines' Regimental Landing Team Nine, a portion of the U.S. 3rd Marine Division.

Communiques reported light fighting in South Vietnam Friday and today.

U.S. troops in three battalions killed 72 guerrillas while losing three killed and 10 wounded.

In the Mekong Delta, South Vietnamese commanders reported the end of a three-day offensive operation Friday near Mo Cay, 49 miles southwest of Saigon. The South Vietnamese said the operation killed 87 Communist troops at a cost of 17 killed and 61 wounded.

Testimony Ends On Haynsworth

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee has heard all the witnesses, but there is no indication when it will vote on the nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth to the Supreme Court.

Seven days of testimony came to a close Friday with civil rights leaders firing the paring shots in opposition to the nomination.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he was uncertain whether his committee would vote at its meeting next Tuesday. He said he would be reluctant to report out a Supreme Court nominee if only a bare quorum were present for the meeting.

Eastland noted that Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., who has been studying Haynsworth's financial and judicial records, has reserved the right to recall the judge for more questioning. And a union spokesman has suggested recalling Haynsworth to testify concerning four cases involving Nationwide Mutual Insurance Co. and Grace Lines, Inc.

Irving Abramson, general counsel of the International Electrical Workers union, told Eastland in a letter that Haynsworth had a "substantial stockholder interest" in the firms and should be asked why he did not disqualify himself when

Discothequerie, Champagne and Synge

It's been a long time since an American window has displayed the sign NO IRISH NEED APPLY, a thought denoting some human progress. But at a time when that sign might have been seen this side of the Atlantic, on the other side John M. Synge was using (and preserving) the rich language and imagination of the Irish peasantry in his plays.

The giant reputation of Synge (pronounced "Sing") among playwrights and theater cognoscenti rests solely on six plays and a journal, his entire output, produced between 1903 and 1909. The greatest number of his present admirers probably know him for this Playboy of the Western World, produced in New York in the '50s, from which a film was made shortly thereafter.

In a preface Synge wrote, "In writing The Playboy of the Western World, as in many other plays, I have used one or two words only that I have not heard among the country people of Ireland, or spoken in my own nursery before I could read the newspapers... Anyone who has lived in real intimacy with the Irish peasantry will know that the wildest sayings and ideas in this play are tame indeed, compared with the fancies one may hear in any little hillside cabin in Geesala, or Carraroe, or Dingle Bay... In Ireland for a few years more, we have a popular imagination that is fiery and magnificent, and tender; so that those of us who wish to write start with a chance that is not given to writers in places where the springtime of the local life has been forgotten, and the harvest is a memory only, and the straw has been turned into bricks."

Sifting and Swirling

This he wrote in 1907, two years and two plays before his death. Two of his six plays are one-acts only, and one of these, Riders to the Sea (1904), is considered by many critics to be one of the finest tragedies in the English language, a play (like the others) about the primitive Irish of the Aran Islands, the severity of their lives, and the richness of imagination that sifts and swirls through their days and nights.

On October 11 only, at 8:30,

Performing Arts of Woodstock will present Riders, chosen and directed by noted artist Frank Alexander, with a champagne-punch discotheque party immediately following. The play, a short one-act, will be presented first, after which the actors in costume will join in the party. The full set, constructed by Howard Day, will remain onstage, with the audience invited to wander through and around it during the party. Food dishes will be tangy and original, their flavor accented by a champagne punch, and Diskvill dancing will hold forth for GoGoers. An evening to feed the mind, the body, and (dare we say it?)

the soul.

Maurya, the mother in Riders, will be played by Annabelle Panish; Kathleen, one of her daughters, by Bonnie Manka; Nora, the other daughter, by Suzette Green; Bartley, the son, by veteran Ron Radice; neighbors by Anne Crosswell (herself a noted lyricist), Larry Shufeldt (another veteran), Elaine Vincent, and Tom Goldstone. Lights will be handled by James Gibson; costumes by Elaine Vincent. The stage manager is Allison Crockett, and the set was designed by Howard Day, assisted by Ron Manka and John Andreadakis.

Where It's At

Where, then, will all this fun and merriment, all this living theatre and fashionable dancing take place?

What better place than the Woodstock Artists Association Gallery, hard beside the village green in the center of the art colony? For Saturday night, Oct. 11 — beginning at 8:30, the gallery will house the play and the party — where you can slip the disc by doing the Monkey, the Pony, the Bird, the Snake, the Heat Wave, the Hitchhiker, the GoGo and the Watutsi.

Tickets for the entire evening, including edibles and potables, are $5 per person. All of which means that anyone who cares about fanciful language, fiery thought, lifestyle, people, magnificent theatre, a blue beat and a frenetic mood ought to apply — whether he's Irish or not and regardless of the sign in the window.

Jack Boris: Man from Booster's Heaven

Jack Boris is a gentleman who has fascinated us for some time now—ever since we read a story about his somewhat anonymous but highly fascinating career.

And the news that Boris will be a guest lecturer at a public dinner meeting in the area next month has already set us to hatching plans to be in attendance when he speaks.

Boris is the man who once swiped a full-size piano in broad daylight. And he'll be showing Hudson Valley businessmen and anyone else interested how the shoplifter works — and how he can be stopped—at an Orange County Community College workshop slated for Oct. 14.

Theft Specialist

If we've managed to somehow convey the impression that Boris is a professional thief, think not so! He is, in fact, a professional theft detection specialist and industrial psychologist (and that's a mouthful in itself), who sometimes turns flitcher as a legitimate adjunct to his ever so legitimate business.

Anyway, he'll be talking about his salad days as a merchandise heister at a dinner session at Meadowbrook Lodge in Vails Gate on Oct. 14 at 6 p. m. And, in the firm belief that he shouldn't be missed, we're driving down to Newburgh way to hear him.

Boris has his serious side... very serious indeed. He'll tell you that every business, large or small, is affected in some manner with the collateral problem of shoplifting and employee pilferage. He'll also point out that the fundamental reason these crimes have increased more than 80 per cent in the last decade or so is because business people simply don't know how to combat them.

Focusing on retailers, he tells them that any merchandise stolen from their business is their personal profit dollars stolen. Boris estimates that pharmacies, for example, must sell on an average of $28.52 worth of merchandise to recoup every $1 stolen.

How They Steal

Getting down to serious matters in his OCCC talk entitled "Mind Your Own Business," he'll cover such topics as how and why employees steal, how to detect the dishonest employee, the shoplifter—

'SHOPLIFTER' JACK BORIS

how and when he steals, and when and when not to prosecute.

The fun will come when he demonstrates the tricks and tools employed by the shoplifter; shows a film of professional shoplifters at work. And Boris knows all the tricks.

There's the matter of that big, heavy piano he pilfered by the sun's bright light. How'd he do it? By having one member of his gang divert a salesman's attention while he finched a blank sales slip with duplicates. Taking the sales slip home, he filled it out, returned the next day driving a truck, presented the bogus sales slip to a different salesman. Then, with the help of other gang members dressed as movers, he carted the piano out of the store just as if he owned it and with no questions asked.

No natural or stereotyped shoplifter,

Jack Boris decided to become a professional thief only when he started his business. In order to become as expert as those he hoped to catch snitching, he once lived with a gang of New York City shoplifters for three weeks to learn first hand how they operated, what motivated them, the tools they used, and their weaknesses.

Added Loot

He was an able mimic and, in addition to that piano, he's managed to walk out of stores with TV sets, clothing, antiques and silverware, among other goodies.

A good shoplifter, says Boris, can take home as much as $2,000 a day, after stealing merchandise worth three times that and selling it to a dealer in stolen goods.

Nowadays, Boris specializes in helping merchants deal with the rising tide of shoplifting that has forced more than a few store owners into bankruptcy, and individual businesses and even chains to close down. From the New Jersey headquarters of his protection service company, more than two dozen employees monitor almost 400 closed-circuit TV screens hooked up to cameras in his clients' stores.

And they know what to look for, thanks to their one-time "shoplifter" boss. They look for booster coats (with dozens of extra pockets sewn into the lining), booster boxes (containers with one false side into which stolen goods can be stuffed, hollowed out books, throw cloths, and other special helpers).

It's Big Business

Sound fascinating? It should. After all, modern day living has made shoplifting big business, both for the practitioner and the men (like Boris) who are trying to do something toward stamping it out.

And Boris is a colorful and interesting speaker (we've heard him on New York radio talk shows), who comes across like a combination huckster-evangelist. If you'd like to see and hear him do his thing, you can register for his Oct. 14 dinner and shoplifting prevention session by contacting the Continuing Education Office, OCCC, Middletown, N. Y. 10940, telephone (914) 343-1614. The registration fee includes the cost of dinner. (T.G.)

FACES AND FIGURES in wild profusion decorate house in Highland. (Freeman photos by Haines).

MARIA ALLEGRA with stony-faced friends.

A "CATKILLS MOUNTAIN" GOAT finds a home in a wall.

PIPE - SMOKING "OLD SALT" stares toward the Hudson.

No less than the place where it is located—near the shores of the historic Hudson—this house is full of adventure. It is inhabited by woodland nymphs, mountain climbing goats and ferocious stalkers of the jungle. They live side-by-side with doughboys of the war to end all wars, Roaring Twenties flappers in cloche hats, rough riders, seafaring captains, pirates and Gibson girls.

The house is just off Route 9W in Highland near the State Police Barracks and its present owner, Maria Allegra, is a lady both friendly and gregarious. The lady of the house finds it not the least bit strange to be sharing her abode with a host of human friends who never speak and animals incapable of movement or noise. For this is a house that sculpture built—and from their perches beneath the eaves, their stances on the lawn, and their embedded residence in the walls, Maria Allegra's stony-faced friends can gaze on the thick-leaved woodlands of summer, the blazing autumn countryside, or the softly falling snows of winter.

Passing motorists may be dazed by the complexity of their "environment," but the silent fawns and stoic soldiers ignore the curious stares as they have done now for years.

BONNETS OF TWO ERAS protect "ladies" from rain and snow.

A FEROCIOUS LION prowls the lawn.

ALONG MUSEUM VILLAGE OF SMITH'S CLOVE MAIN STREET

Folk-Festivaling in October

It's a sure sign of autumn when Smith's Clove Museum opens its Annual Fall Festival. Folk festivaling gets underway for the fourth year at the museum down Monroe, N. Y. way on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 4 and 5. It'll continue for four weekends during October, and a happy heart and a deep pride in all our pioneering forebearers will linger with you, long after you leave the skilled craftsmen, the demonstrators, the living folkways, the cider making, the spinning wheels.

There'll be fun, excitement, food, crafts, exhibits—a month long revival of what life was like in an American village of 125 years ago.

Each day starting at 10 a. m. you'll see how the folks long ago made ready for winter on the farm. Veteran demonstrators, boiling soap and apple butter, making candles, brooms and pottery will be shown by the staff. Cider making, weaving, cooking, blacksmithing, tin-smithing, and other old crafts will be offered, along with a school teacher in the one-room schoolhouse.

"Sure-Fire" Remedies

Such variety at the Smith's Clove Fall Festival! Hear the talk on herbs at the herb garden in front of the Log Cabin each day at 2 and 4 p. m., and learn how to use them as "sure-fire" remedies (like snake root for upset stomachs). Watch the spinning wheels and looms and bear in mind that in all of the craft demonstrations authentic equipment is used. Looms and spinning wheels still work wondrously well even though they're 150 years old — and brooms are made on early 19th century Shaker equipment.

To recreate the customs and present the lore of the past, exhibits and shops in the 39 buildings of the museum will be open from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. to show off displays of tools, toys, glass, guns, woodenware and implements and old fashioned carriages of the early settlers.

Last weekend of the festival will be Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 25 and 26. The museum closes for the season Oct. 31. Museum Village is located on Route 17 four miles west of Exit 16 at Harri-man of the New York Thruway.

Proves Its Popularity

An upsurge of interest in a fairly new art form in the Hudson Valley has led to Friday night sessions at Beacon's Theatre of Psychodrama.

Public sessions in this drama form are now being held regularly on Fridays at 8:15 p.m. in addition to the Saturday night sessions which have been offered continuously during the past year. All sessions are supervised by Dr. J. L. Moreno, psychiatrist and creator of psychodrama, with Saturday meetings directed by his wife, Zerka, and Friday night sessions directed by staff members George and Elaine Zimbel.

Theatre of Psychodrama began in Vienna in 1921 when Dr. Moreno initiated the Theatre of Spontaneity. By 1928, it was attracting attention Brooklyn; later debuted in Carnegie Hall and eventually became a permanent fixture on upper Broadway in its own theatre.

Last year, Moreno opened an annex here in the Hudson Valley in a theatre located at 259 Wolcott Avenue, Route 9D, Beacon. Psychodrama, described as "a method of exploring truth in an objective setting," has become a popular attraction there, with groups creating on stage the world and its people as a means of helping one another become more sensitive to life's situations. How to deal more effectively with problems of human relations is the lesson learned through psychodrama.

Those interested in either Friday or Saturday sessions should call 914-831-2318, although advance reservations are not necessary.

Humanist Art Excels

Lest you forget, Tempo here with reminds you there's only one week left in which to enjoy the "Artist as Humanist" exhibit at Ulster County Community College's Stone Ridge campus.

Nationally renowned artists commissioned to portray the image of the Salvation Army are exhibiting in this show—and it's one of the best to come our way this season or any other. Twenty-five original paintings and sculptures inspired by Salvation Army services to mankind are featured in the show, open through Oct. 3 only in the Visual Arts Gallery, John Burroughs Science Building, UCCC campus, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Pop art, sculpture, bas relief and various contemporary art styles are represented in the collection. Included are sculptures by Carveth Kramer, Bruno Lucchesi, Glen Michaels and Jason Seley. Paintings are the work of John Argonis, James Barkley, Ron Chereskin, Robert M. Cunningham, Elliot Elison, Mark English, Tom Huffman, Peter Max, Eugene Murray, Charles Santore, Isador Seltzer, David Stone-Martin, Loretta Waite, Sander Witlin and Alexandra Wood. Collages by Burton J. Groedel and H. A. Stromberg complete the exhibit.

The Lonely and Bruised

Each of the paintings and sculptures is a visual interpretation of a specific Salvation Army service. Jason Seley's sculpture of broken car bumpers is inspired by the Social Service Center which the Army maintains for homeless men. Bruno Lucchesi's bronze bas-relief is an interpretation of Army services to unwed mothers. All of the art works have been contributed to the Salvation Army by the artists.

The collection was assembled to provide illustrative material for the Salvation Army annual newspaper supplement seen in the New York Times Nov. 10, 1968. The supplement, running to 32 pages in full color, was the annual report of the Salvation Army of New York, and highlighted the various activities of the Army.

This exhibit is part of the regularly changing exhibitions at the college for the current academic year. A brochure listing the Art-Exhibition Series and the Meet the Artist Series is available by writing Professor Ruth Muroff, chairman, Dept. of Visual Arts, UCCC, Stone Ridge, N. Y. 12484

Coming up next: "Artists as Historian," running from Oct. 6-24 and displaying original prints interpreting the period from the Civil War to World War I by Mary Cassatt, James McNeil Whistler, Winslow Homer, and Currier and Ives.

When Diahann Carroll showed up for the taping of her guest spot on The Tom Jones Show, her gown sent the network censors scurrying to wardrobe for extra cloth to cover up Diahann. But she refused. So tune in Oct. 2 and see if you're properly shocked — or something.

Jo Anne Worley of Laugh-In has written a book due for publication next month. It's called "The Original Chicken Book" and it answers such troublesome and pertinent questions as, "Why did the chicken cross the road?" Jo Anne's answer: "To avoid Colonel Sanders."

FACTS FOR LASSIE LOVERS: The dog who presently plays Lassie is the great-grandson of the original. And Lassie, it seems, has always been played by a male dog, although the character is female.

Rodney Dangerfield is a man who proved he believed in his chances of being a success as a comic. At the age of 40, he went $20,000 into debt while literally working for nothing in Greenwich Village night spots.

BOXCORING THE NEW SHOWS A LA TEMPO'S PERSONAL REACTION:

Bracken's World stars a specter, of all things — the powerful head of a thriving studio. But Bracken is a specter we never see, so casting honors go to Eleanor Powell as his private secretary. The opening episode seemed lacking as the widower governor, but (probably because it was taken up mainly with introducing the characters. Once settled in, this could be an good show simply because it gives an interesting view of the day-to-day scramble for fame and fortune.

The Music Scene is one scene we'll be avoiding this year. Its dullsville potpourri of popular improvised comedy and musical hits (faintly resembling a contemporary version of the old Hit Parade) fails to move us in spite of its all-star cast.

The Governor and J.J. is an attempt at comedy with substance. The series is evidently trying to make points about things like pollution, education, traffic, etc., without preaching. It's a good idea and it may work. Dan Dailey does dandy

EVEN WITH ALL THAT PADDING Flip Wilson and Phil Silvers don't look like uncatchable O. J. Simpson and brash Broadway Joe Namath. Still they add an autumn gridiron flavor to Tempo's TV page in this shot from this week's Bob Hope Special. Flip also starred in his very own hour-long special following the Hope show.

Quits Game Show

Ed McMahon has bowed out as host of NBC's "Concentration" game show. Besides his nightly stint as announcer on the network's "Tonight" program, McMahon has become increasingly involved in several business enterprises. He found he simply couldn't continue to fit "Concentration" into his schedule five days a week.

Will It Be Soapy?

One of the more interesting things to watch for during the new season is whether ABC's new big-money, big-star one-hour weekly series, "The Survivors," can avoid being regarded as a nighttime soap opera, a label that the defunct "Peyton Place" series couldn't escape. Harold Robbins, fantastically successful novelist, created the idea for the new program, built around rich, international jet-set characters, along the lines of a novel. Each weekly episode is to be regarded as a chapter in a book.

Broadway's Loss

Broadway lost another of its theaters, the Cort in West 48th Street, when CBS took it over for a term as the studio for its new nightly talk-entertainment series guided by Merv Griffin. The Cort dates back to 1912.

KYLE JOHNSON as Newt Winger takes time out to explore the mysteries of nature at an ant hill in "The LEARNING TREE," the touching drama now playing at Kingston's Community Theatre. Produced, written and directed by Gordon Parks, who also composed the music, "Tree" is from Parks' autobiography; traces life in a Mid-Western Negro Community.

THE BARROW GANG makes its escape after robbing the Farmers and Merchants Bank in this scene from "BONNIE AND CLYDE." One of the most popular perennial rerun favorites in the movie industry, the story of crime in the Depression '30s has returned for another showing at Kingston's Mayfair Theatre currently.

MOVIES

The Learning Tree

He's any boy. . . Any time. . . Growing up in any place. . . But this is not just any picture.

The "Learning Tree," a film by Gordon Parks based on his novel, is a touching drama of life in a Mid-Western Negro community—made only as world famed Life Magazine photo-journalist Parks could have made it.

Now showing at Kingston's Community Theatre, it is moving film fare. Focusing on the dream-filled, exploratory childhood wanderings the family relationships, the boyhood gang mischief, the inter-racial friendships and intra-racial enmities, the fears, frustrations and ambitions of young Negro boys and girls growing up in the small towns of the U.S., it touches on a facet of Americana rarely explored and documented.

An Idyllic Story

This is an idyllic story about less than one year in the life of a boy born into a poor Negro family residing in the historically Free State of Kansas; in a city built around a Fort where Union troops fought off Confederates during the Civil War. The time is the mid-1920's. The family is not necessarily unique in its cohesiveness, or noteworthy for the aspirations the parents held for their children.

Ostracized in community social and work-a-day life, the family's private life is simple but happy. They worship God religiously, respect each other and grow together in their ability to withstand and "ride out" assaults upon their dignity and humanity from the society that surrounds and dominates them.

Mostly, it tells the story of Newt Winger (Kyle Johnson), a sensitive teenager who dreams often and big and for whom his mother (Estelle Evans) dreams bigger. And it tells the story well and movingly, emphasizing the beauty of nature, the horror and fear of death, and the heartache of love.

Unjustified hate has a place in this story as does immortality, honor, integrity and pain. It is a small world that Newt Winger knows and his story is a simple tale. But this is a movie no one should miss for it is a story that has never been told, in this way, about an American boy whose skin is black.

I Am Curious (Yellow)

Continuing into its second week at the New Paltz Cinema, this Swedish film offers a portrayal of the attitudes and problems of today's young people. It stars Lena Nyman and Borje Ahlstedt, who jump in and out of their clothes so often; get themselves photographed from so many angles in the process that the whole sexual, generation gap message the film is supposed to convey becomes a big bore in no time flat.

Once again, too much publicity about the censorship of a film has brought success that has only spoiled it for many a viewer.

The Loves of Isadora

With reruns and holdovers playing all over the place, it is probably well worth an avid movie buff's time and effort to consider this film at Hyde Park's Roosevelt Theatre.

Distinguished by a graceful and majestic performance by beautiful Vanessa Redgrave as the late, famed dancer Isadora Duncan, it's a story of more than minimal interest.

The scenario is essentially true to events, and the events involved are certainly intriguing and fascinating enough since Isadora was a controversial and eccentric celebrity, who insisted on a freedom frowned upon in her time.

The Wild Bunch

"The Wild Bunch," now playing at Woodstock's Tinker Street Cinema, is a jolly good western. In fact, it can stand right up there alongside "Shane" and "High Noon" as a classic in the field of cowboy flicks.

Director Sam Peckinpah makes a bid for an Oscar

WILLIAM HOLDEN is the leader of "THE WILD BUNCH" in the movie of the same name. One of the best westerns to come along in years, it's currently playing at Woodstock's Tinker Street Cinema.

Weekend Vacation Package

See Vermont's Fall Foliage

Two foliage weekend special vacation packages are planned by Rail Associates for Oct. 4-5 and 11-12, in Vermont.

The Fourth Annual Vermont Rail Fall Excursions will offer 250 miles of spectacular foliage views of Green Mountain and Adirondack Ranges, along the state's western valleys from Bennington to Burlington, on Vermont Railway line. Also included on this two-day passenger train excursion are visits to some of Vermont's historical sites.

One highlight of the trip is a visit to Shelburne Museum, enchanting community of living Americana with displays of fine old New England buildings containing centuries of varied treasures. Exhibits range from the 220 foot S.S. Ticonderoga to art, including an original Rembrandt.

A 25 mile scenic lake excursion between Burlington, Vt., and Port Kent, N. Y., will provide panoramic views of Vermont and New York mountain ranges from Lake Champlain, the sixth largest fresh water lake in the U.S.

Visit to Marble Center

The train's passengers will also visit the World's Largest Marble Exhibit in Proctor, which has indoor and outdoor displays of expert stonecutters' craft and 100 different types of marble processed by Vermont Marble Company's plants.

Also provided in the weekend package are superior overnight accommodations in Burlington, with transportation between the train and motels.

This complete weekend package offers comfortable transportation, a unique excursion by rail and ferry, lodging and two side tours. Fall foliage rail vacation gives the weekend visitor to Vermont a convenient way to travel and sightsee, in striking contrast to overcrowded highways. An added feature this year on the excursions are specially trained guides, well-versed on Vermont history and lore.

Special rates are offered with the purchase of tickets prior to the trip. This includes $35 for adults (a $2.50 saving), $15 for students, ages 8-15 ($1 saving), and children under 8 free. With these trip tickets, passengers will receive free admission coupons to historic Bennington Battle Monument and Bennington Museum and to the vintage Steamtown, U.S.A., Museum in Bellows Falls.

For further information and reservations, Contact Rail Associates, Bellows Falls, Vermont 05101.

OPEN HOUSE!

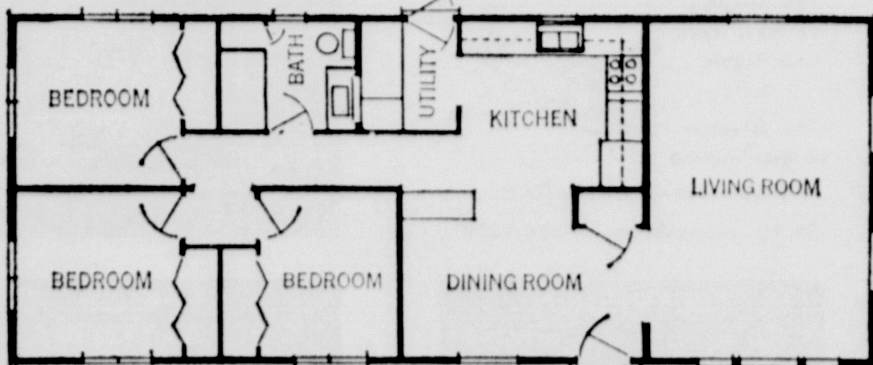

You may never see another home like it.

Every DeLuxe Home is different because every one is custom built to the needs of its owner. There are nine floor plans and seven sizes for every home design. You have a choice of two to five bedrooms, options like a fireplace, garage, recessed entrance, back porch and patio. You select the color schemes, the draperies and wall-to-wall carpeting. Very personal. But inexpensive, because only the foundation of a DeLuxe Home is built on your lot. The house is built on an assembly line so special jigs and power equipment can be utilized to do a better job. A job well above FHA minimum standards. And because DeLuxe builds many houses at the same time, materials and appliances are bought in quantity from manufacturers like Frigidaire, Armstrong and U. S. Plywood. The final cost will be almost 12% less than a comparable home built on your lot. Best of all, you can move in shortly after it is set on the foundation.

DeLuxe has six beautiful designs to start with—you might like the Capri. Or Rustic. Or Raised Ranch.

Any one of the complete line of DeLuxe Homes could be the home you'd really like to live in. Stop in and see them all.

C. Choose from nine different floor plans with from two to five bedrooms.

A. Wall-to-wall carpets and draperies of your choice are put in your DeLuxe Home when it is built.

B. Dishwasher, one-piece formica countertop with extra high back splash, spacious cabinets and step-saving arrangement are little comforts of a DeLuxe kitchen.

nomination in this one; has molded his film into a huge, sprawling and beautiful composed canvas of the violence that did indeed exist in the days when the West of legend was on its way out.

The script is well conceived, and the final shoot-out is probably the greatest gun battle ever put on film — so much so, it makes "Gunfight at the O.K. Corral" look like simple kindergarten playfulness with cap guns.

Bonnie and Clyde

Based on the story of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, this film covers their career as bank robbers and killers in the Southwest during the Depression. Since its release, it has made film history; is proving its fantastic drawing power all over again in a current rerun at Kingston's Mayfair Theatre.

Its appeal stems mainly from the fact that Clyde and Bonnie were young and products of the Depression, and the film makes a folk saga of their short, notorious and ill-fated careers. Embarking on a life of casual crime together, they eventually become the Barrow gang by adding a simple-minded garage mechanic, Clyde's brother and his loudly protesting wife to their holdup after holdup, followed by murder, ramblings.

Some great shots of stolen cars careening wildly across the Dust Bowl, and an excellent script that contrasts violence with broad humor and scenes of sadness and tenderness. The fine performances and direction carry an overwhelming tension in this account of immature human beings caught in a fatal web of their own creation.

Bullitt

Co-featured on the double bill at the Mayfair here this week is "Bullitt," a crackling good cops and robbers thriller. It follows detective Steve McQueen as he tries to protect a hoodlum, slated to testify at a Senate hearing.

When the mobster and his guard are shot by gangsters, Bullitt secretes the body with the aid of a friendly doctor. By doing so, he keeps the case open and the action moving along for the run of the film. The investigation leads to further murders and an absolutely mad but beautifully photographed car chase through hilly San Francisco, and a final shoot-out at the airport — both of which will have you on the edge of your seat. The part of Bullitt suits McQueen to perfection and his performance is faultless.

Daddy's Gone A-Hunting

Pretty silly is this rerun at the 9 W Drive-In locally. All about a happily married young wife and mother being terrorized by a former lover. Seems he's an insane one who demands she murder her new baby in atonement for her abortion of their own child at the time they parted. Starring Carol White as the young wife and Scott Hylands as the nut,

The Mad Room

On the double bill at 9 W Drive-In this weekend only, "Room" is a gory psychological shocker about two adolescents who have spent 12 years in an insane asylum, charged with parricide. Finally released in the custody of an older sister (Stella Stevens), their return home brings emotional tensions to the fore again. Before long, Stella's boss (Shelley Winters) gets hacked to death and you can take it from there. It's far too grisly, luridly detailed, and full of gore for us to delve any further. JOHN WAYNE lends a helping hand to Kim Darby, but Glen Campbell is out of it in this scene from "TRUE GRIT." The rambunctious Western film is now playing at the Lyceum Theatre in Red Hook; is a fun movie for the entire family.

"DADDY'S GONE A-HUNTING," featuring (L-R) Paul Burke, Scott Hylands and Carol White, returns for a rerun this weekend at Kingston's 9-W Drive-In. In Technicolor, it's a thriller about a nerve-twanging confrontation between a girl and her former ne'er-do-well lover.

Dining Out

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA
Dutchess County readers of Tempo will probably already know of this beautiful country inn and the fact that it is something quite special. Ulster residents who are not aware of its existence should definitely make the effort to seek it out when visiting the neighboring county. If they do, Tempo guarantees they will be impressed; will find themselves returning several times during the year in spite of the drive.

The marvelous eatery to which we refer is Old Drover's Inn, slightly off the beaten path in Dover Plains. Since the Inn also provides lodging, it has become a popular stopping-off place for skiers who prefer the Berkshires trails. As non-skiers, we recommend it as a perfect place to get away from it all over an autumn weekend.

The Inn is old and gorgeous; features priceless antiques and trappings of country living. Built in the middle 1700's, it's a totally authentic bit of early American. Even its name is steeped in history since it once served as the social center for cattle drovers of long ago. The Taproom in particular is filled with history.

Unsurpassed Cuisine

Such mellowness is attraction enough, but when one adds the irrevocable fact that Old Drover's cuisine is unsurpassed, the lure is even greater. We insist without reservation that the Inn can compete with any fine restaurant in the entire country.

Such soups as the Old Drover offers are not to be believed. It specializes in cheddar cheese soup, cold red currant soup, creamy-chicken senegalese soup. Each is delightful and unusual; is appetizer enough for any man.

Entrees are substantial and delicious. If you decide to enjoy the venerable, pastoral surroundings for lunch, nothing could be more delightful than the light blueberry griddle cakes. If you're having dinner by firelight (and here it glances off a rare collection of memorabilia, pictures and reminders of far earlier days) splurge for all you're worth and have the magnificent roast whole pheasant. Call us romantic, if you will, but the roast pheasant is dining enchantment. Delicate, juicy and sweet (and basted with burgundy), it is carved with a flourish at your table; served with a bread sauce like none we have ever tasted.

Total Elegance

The pheasant makes for an elegant meal. But, then, so do the calves' sweetbreads, frogs' legs sauteed in garlic butter and, believe it or not, the excellent turkey hash.

Tempo recommends you seek out this wonderful country inn if you're traveling Route 22 through Dutchess County. If you're not, go out of your way to find it. Have a drink at the old taproom bar, a light lunch, a baronial dinner, or stay for the night or weekend if you have the time and the wherewithall. Guest rooms boast ancient fireplaces, enormous eiderdown quilts, huge and comfortable armchairs, and there's even an excellent library from which you may select a book.

If you're looking for eating adventure, this is it.

'Workshops' Take Over Art Gallery

This weekend marks the final two days in the Art Depot's eighth season of exhibitions. Forty-four paintings, collages and drawings by members of the Art Depot Guild of Artists, plus a one-woman show of paintings by Carole A. Leib, are on display, and may be seen by the public, in the Art Depot, Noxon Road, Lagrangeville.

Plans for the Depot's 1970 season include five group shows, some of which will be open to all area artists, and eight one-artist exhibits. In addition, there will be one outdoor art festival. After Oct. 1, ADGA will be held in the Depot on Thursday night, and the gallery rooms will be used for day-time workshop sessions.

An Old Craft

Anyone who has ever yearned to weave shimmering fabrics, or decorative tapestries that are all light and air, need only learn to do so.

And anyone can learn in the weaving classes instructed by Berta Frey. Miss Frey begins new season of such courses on Wednesdays, Oct. 1 at 1 p.m. A series of sessions is planned for Wednesdays and Thursdays of each week at her Bearsville studio. Further information and registration may be obtained at the sponsoring organization, Guild of Craftsmen Shop, Tinker Street, Woodstock.

Originals Wanted

A brief reminder that Performing Arts of Woodstock welcomes original plays by local writers, and it matters not whether you are an active member of the group.

For the record, PAW's monthly Play Readings, formerly held on the second Wednesday of each month in the Woodstock Historical Society's building, are now taking place on the second Tuesday of each month, upstairs in the Fellowship Hall of Christ's Lutheran Church, 28 Mill Hill Road, Woodstock. Play Readings are always open to the public at no charge.

Potpourri

By JOAN L. WOINOSKI

Looks like they finally found Jimmy Durante's "lost chord"; it's nestled in neons and lounging in leisurely bliss on Route 28, in Boiceville, 15 miles from Kingston . . . the Chord Lounge, but of course!

Obviously, proprietors Jon Penning and Tony Minervini, have not been sitting on their hands these past months. The name of their game is restaurant, mes petites, with a capital "R," first class and all the pizzazz.

Jon and Tony must have had a field day planning decor but when modish interiors turn one-on so completely, cherchez la femme. In this case, Jon's mother, Elizabeth Penning who deals in ceramics, undoubtedly was in on the act somewhere along the hues. Then too, Jon's dad, Tom, has been any thing but idle. A noted sculptor—responsible for such area works as Our Lady of the Snow in Saugerties and Our Lady of the Hudson in Port Ewen—he's been nicknamed "Bluestone" since completing impressive huge fireplace at the Chord.

Definitely no "come as you are" eating place, the new luxurious Chord requests—nay insists—jackets and neckties, and when one pores over the place, one knows it's only proper. As for food, in a simple little nutshell, Saturday night's pre-grand opening buffet can only be described as "finger lickin' great."

Those "theys" who discovered the Chord included painter Fletcher Martin and authoress were there!

wife, Jean; writer Charles Boswell with wife, Pat; retired University of Iowa professor Eugene Ludins who's also painter, and wife Hannah, a sculptress; writer Blake Cabot; photographer Milt and teacher Kay Wagenfohr—Tony Minervini was one of Kay's students, for the record.

Also, Arthur Zaidenberg, writer, artist and winner of Sally Jacobs Award for welded sculpture; patron of the arts Peter Whitehead; Seymour (Sid) Kline of ABC-TV and wife Polly, a by-line writer for Daily News; financier Belmont Tobin, his wife Phoebe, a painter; sculptress Amy Small; painter Mrs. Wendell Jones.

And painters Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Currie, painter Joseph Pollet; New Paltz teacher Anthony Robinson, son of author of The Cardinal, with wife Mary who's a dancer and yoga instructor at Woodstock; Petra Mearns, designer of the original scotch cooler, also a painter, and daughter of Hughes Mearns, professor at NYU who wrote "Little Man Who Wasn't There," among others.

Several ladies came garbed in full length attire; we hesitate to say gowns 'cause it's difficult to spot where "gown" stops and "maxi" begins. Lighted candles gracing every table made it "all the better to see you with, my dear," and with such an impressive clientele, who would wish to miss a body!

However, off the record, it was NOT necessary to be a member of the arts; it just seemed that way. After all, we

Saroyan's Wit and Look's Photos:

The Gamut of Human Emotions

An exhibition of photographs and commentaries typifying America and its people is the first show of the 1969-70 year at Harriman Gallery, Orange County Community College, Middletown.

Entitled "Look at Us . . . (Us? U.S.?)", the collection of 25 large pictures combines the photo-journalism talents of Arthur Rothstein, technical director of photography for Look magazine, and the poetic comments of William Saroyan, Pulitzer Prize-winning author and playwright.

Show opened recently; will run through Oct. 3, and will be open to the public on weekdays.

"In the exhibition, both author and photographer have meshed the substance of American life into a whole, eloquently depicting the realities, dreams and foibles of the human heart," says the American Federation of Art.

Once again Saroyan has unmasked America reacting to environment and the stresses of changing times. With candor and wit he poetically comments on Rothstein's magical pictures.

By portraying not only the day-to-day scenes of our native life—the smiling farm couple displaying their produce, children enjoying ice cream and the fun of Halloween; but also the more universal ones—a new baby, the struggles of a nation at war, the hopes and aspirations of families faced with poverty and destruction—author and photographer have made visible the gamut of human emotions.

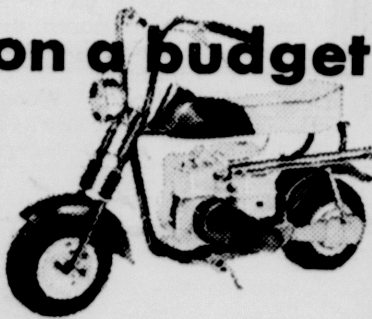

Saroyan, raised on his uncle's vineyard in Fresno, California, is one of America's most respected storytellers. His highly acclaimed novel, The Human Comedy, won an Academy Award in 1943 for the novel's screen play. Other honored works include: The Daring Young Man on the Flying Trapeze, My Name is Aram, and My Heart's in the Highlands. His play, The Time of Your Life, received both the Pulitzer Prize, which he declined, and the Drama Critics Award.

many awards and citations, he has photographs on exhibit in the permanent collections of Museum of Modern Art, George Eastman House, Library of Congress, and Smithsonian Institution. Rothstein received the highest honor in the field of photo-journalism, the Joseph A. Sprague Award for 1967. He is a regular columnist for U. S. Camera magazine, has lectured on photojournalism at various universities, and is a member of the faculty of the Graduate School of Journalism at Columbia University. He is also the author of Photojournalism and Creative Color in Photography.

"55 Years Young"

Serigraphy by Steffen; Movie Making by Carey

"If you don't see what you like, ask us for it —we'll see if we can get it."

So reads the motto of the Office of Continuing Education at Ulster County Community College, and office concerned especially with providing for the educational desires of the young and mature adult community.

We don't know about you . . . but we like what we see. For example, UCCC will soon begin offering Serigraphy (fine arts silk screen printing), a course of basic instruction for beginners and advanced students. To be taught by acclaimed painter and printmaker Bernard Steffen, of Woodstock, the course will run for 15 Thursday evenings starting Oct. 2 and ending Jan. 29.

Of Special Interest

This promises to be a course that should interest non-credit students; appeal to many Ulsterites looking for a special interest program on which to concentrate during the fall and winter. UCCC is to be commended for making such courses possible (along with others in The Film, Folk Guitar, Amateur Radio, Speed Reading, etc.).

The serigraphy course, in particular, is a rich cultural offering. Steffen, a native Kansan, has studied at various art centers, institutes and leagues; has been a staff artist and teacher in Washington, D.C. A former president of the National Serigraph Society, he is the author of a book, "Silk Screen," and is represented in the permanent collections of many museums. A frequent prize winner for his silk screens over the past two decades, he is well qualified for the local campus post.

Registration for the Serigraphy course is available now through the Office of Continuing Education. Registration is also open currently at UCCC for Folk Guitar (instructions for beginners and advanced players). Amateur Radio (an eight week course introducing students to the fascinating world of international, national, and worldwide communications which Ham Radio holds for those interested), and Effective (or Speed) Reading (geared for those who wish to increase their reading speed and broaden their reading thinking skills).

Movie Making Fun

Another course that should combine learning with fun is the Film Studies class, concentrating on the art, techniques and equipment of movie making, with the added attraction of weekly screenings of classic films. This course will meet eight Tuesday evenings from 7-10 p.m., from Oct. 14 to Dec. 2.

Among the great films to be screened: A Trip to the Moon, The Great Train Robbery, Gertie the Dinosaur, Potemkin, Very Nice, Very Nice, Colour Box, Blinkity Blank and Neighbors. Also: Duck Soup, Citizen Kove, Night Mail, Song of Ceylon, Battle of San Pietro, Juliette of the Spirit, Le Chien Andalou, and To Parsifal. Instructor will be Tobe J. Carey, noted underground, documentary and feature filmmaker.
